DEMOCRATS WIN IN COUNTY AND DISTRICT OFFICES, FIGHT FOR NATIONAL CONTROL

With one exception every political office in Scott County was filled by a Democratic candidate following the balloting last Tuesday. The exception is A. L. Mills, Republican candidate for Justice of the Peace in Commerce Township running without opposition.

Democratic majorities ranged from 1427 to 2500 as the landslide finally halted and the work of clearing the debris away was completed. Dewey Short, incumbent polled 2159 votes to 3858 for James F. Fulbright, Democratic nominee. The County handed Fulbright a majority of 1699.

According to unofficial returns released by the American Republic, Poplar Bluff, late Wednesday evening the race for Congressman favored Fulbright by nearly 3000 votes, with only 39 precincts unaccounted for.

The tabulated vote by precincts follows:

County	No. Pcts.	No. Heard from	Short	Fulbright
Butler	25	25	3744	4358
Cape Girardeau	40	39	4901	4917

Taney	18	15	1386	662
Total	400	341	37450	40836

Short carried two precincts out of the 28 in Scott County. Both are in Fornfelt.

The Republican slate did not carry a single precinct.

H. F. Kirkpatrick, Democratic candidate for recorder of deeds, led the party ticket with 4240 votes, and was swept into office over his opponent, J. R. Griffin, by a majority of 2499 votes, the largest single majority of any candidate in the County.

Roger A. Bailey, Sikeston lawyer and candidate for his first political County office, was defeated by a majority of 1778 votes. The vote as stated in the County Clerk's office Thursday morning, was M. E. Montgomery, incumbent 3902; Bailey 2107

The complete Scott County returns follow:

In Benton the fight seemed to center about the race for Constable for Moreland Township, with Tom Hodgksis (Dem.) opposing Gene Bertrand (Rep.) Hodgkiss nosed out his opponent by a majority of 220 votes The County Seat town polled by far the heaviest vote in terms of voters in the area, of any community in the County. A total of 436 votes were cast.

Eighteen absentee votes from eleven Counties had been counted in the totals given above, according to the County Clerk, and another packet of ballots arrived Thursday morning which had not yet been tabulated. Six were from Cape Girardeau.

Chaffee turned out an unusually light vote by polling slightly more than 600. Sikeston likewise fell below its normal, with slightly more than 1300, or 500 less than were tabulated in the primary.

CAPE GIRARDEAU COUNTY ELECTS EIGHT DEMOCRATS

Cape Girardeau, November 5.—Cape Girardeau County almost swung into the Democratic column yesterday when final returns from the poll were tabulated this morning and indicated that the County offices had gone majorly Democratic. Republican candidates were elected to four County offices, while the Democrats placed winners in eight. For State offices the County gave Gehrs a majority of about one thousand and Fulbright a slight majority over Short.

Mrs. Louis Emory Baker and son of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Chas. Prow of St. Louis returned to their respective homes Tuesday, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Harry Smith.

Federal seed loans to Missouri farmers total $56,680 according to information received by the Missouri College of Agriculture from Washington. This represents a total of 952 application that were approved.

J. VAL BAKER OUSTED IN NEW MADRID CO

New Madrid, November 5.—With 21 precincts out of 28 heard from, New Madrid County went overwhelmingly Democratic, results from Tuesday's election show. The town of New Madrid was at least two to one in favor of the Democratic candidates. In the presidential election two years ago, the County was Republican, but in the election preceding that it had been Democratic.

The interest locally was centered on the race for prosecuting attorney in which James V. Conran, Democrat nosed out J. Val Baker, incumbent by a vote of 4429 to 2906. J. F. Fulbright received 4254 votes to Dewey Short's 3023 in the race for Congress from the 14th district. J. H. Gehrs received 2952 votes to Charles A Lee's 4295. David E. Blair received 2969 to George Ellison's 4268 for Judge of the Supreme Court.

Merrill Spitler, present State representative, was defeated by T. A Penman by a vote of 2002 to 4220. G L. Tinsley was defeated for presiding judge of the County Court by S. S Thompson, their votes being 2999 and 4293 respectively.

Elon Proffer was elected judge of the County Court in the first district by a vote of 2208, defeating R. W Baskin, who received 1574. In the second district, O. R. Rhodes won over the incumbent, Robert B. Meentemeyer, by a vote of 1984 to 1431. Lee C. Phillips was elected judge of the Probate Court by a vote of 4173 as compared with 3052 for his opponent, I. L. Parrett.

L. D. Marlowe, incumbent, was defeated for collector by P. J Stearns by a vote of 2998 to 4129. Owen J. Taul received 3061 votes for clerk of the Circuit Court, being defeated by Burl E. Underwood, who received 4207. Roger L. Jones defeated W. E. Denton, incumbent, for the office of Clerk of the County Court by a vote of 4171 to 3120. Grover Meate received 4171 votes to defeat George A. Babcock, present recorder of deeds, for that office, Babcock receiving 3139.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN WAYNE COUNTY

Piedmont, Mo., November 5.—Among the local contests in yesterday's election the Democrats were successful in every race here yesterday. All the Democratic candidates in this township were elected by majorities of more than two to one.

The successful candidates were: John W. Young and J. R. Merryman for Justice of the Peace and G. W Turner for Constable. They defeated J. E. Chism and E. A. Schiek for Justice of the Peace and C. E. Carpenter for Constable.

The two wards of this township also gave a more than two to one majority for all Democratic candidates for State and County offices.

CONTRACTORS SHOW INTEREST IN FUTURE ROAD WORK

Keen competition has developed among the contractors bidding or State road work. This fact was demonstrated Friday, October 31, when Chief Engineer T. H. Cutler opened bids on fifty new sections of roads. Four hundred and seventy-six bids were submitted by contractors on these fifty projects.

Dexter Has $15,000 Fire

Dexter, November 3.—A $15,000 blaze here early this morning destroyed the pasteurizing equipment of the Dexter Feed and Creamery Co two cars of feedstuff, a Standard Oil station and repair equipment, all in the Lee Brothers Building here.

The fire had spread through the inside of the building before it was discovered and three streams of water were played on the building to bring it under control after over an hour of fighting.

Mrs. Milem Limbaugh entertained at bridge Thursday evening.

COUNCIL SETS NOVEMBER 24 AS DATE FOR OPENING OF BIDS ON MUNY LIGHT PLANT

Sikeston's municipal light and power plant may be expected to assume definite proportions after Monday afternoon, November 24. At two o'clock the afternoon of that date the City Council will meet to open bids on the municipal project.

Complete plans for the building engines, distribution system and white way layout were brought to Sikeston last Monday by W. A. Fuller, head of the St. Louis engineering firm by that name, and the Council that night in regular session placed its official OK on the blueprints and established the date for considering bids.

Complete specifications and bidder's blanks are printed and have been delivered to the offices of the Fuller Company and to the City Clerk here. A notice to the effect that bids will be received up to November 24 is carried in this issue of The Standard, and has also been placed in various trade and engineering magazines.

Mayor N. E. Fuchs, Otto Hahs, J. L. Matthews and J. F. Cox, comprising a special building committee of the Council, met in special session Wednesday afternoon, together with other members of the Council and ironed out several minor technical details.

The municipal light and power project has been discussed pro and con for almost three years. Last April first it was placed on the ballot and received the necessary two-thirds majority vote necessary, and since that time technical engineering financial and legal matters have been gradually cleared away.

The end of this month will probably see actual construction work begun. Six months later, it is estimated, should see the plant and system completed and in operation.

A SURPRISE SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was given Monday night at the home of Mrs. Frank Seabaugh, 956 Kathleen Avenue, in honor of Mrs. Arthur Sitzes, formerly Miss Vivian Pratt of this city. Refreshments of hot chocolate, sandwiches and ice cream were served. The following were present: Mrs. J. R. Elkins, Miss Opal Vaughn, Herbert Fox of Morehouse, Mrs. Ettna, Brown, Lucille Ellis, Mrs. L H. Shivel, Mrs. Ira Shuffit, Mrs. Mary Milbourn, Mrs. Wayne Feezar, Mrs Mabel Harn, Mrs. Frances Kirby, Mrs. Karl Bryzeal, Mrs. Add Pratt, Mrs. Joe Schaeffer, Mrs. Harry Pratt, Mrs. Maude Sitzes, Miss Maxine Pratt, Mrs. Barney Jones, Miss Ella Lee Jones, Laura Wright, Mrs. Frank Moody and Mrs. Lillie McFadden.

IRA CHANEY MARRIES GIRL IN ILLINOIS

Friends were very much surprised to hear of the marriage of Ira Chaney of this city to Miss Hazel Ballard of Belnep, Ill. The couple was quietly married on Saturday afternoon, November 1, at Charleston, with Calvin Carter of this city being the only witness. Mr. Chaney is an employee of the International Shoe Co.

The young couple will make their home with the groom's parents until the near future.

Their friends wish them lots of happiness and success.

AFTER THE BALL

Democratic incumbents slept an extra hour or two Wednesday morning and then went to their respective offices to clear away the wreckage of the Democratic landslide which had befallen their opponents the day previous.

Without exception every Democratic County candidate rolled into office on the almost Nation-wide wave of popular Democratic approval.

The question arises, why?

Which in turn leads to more talk.

In the first place it was an "off year" election, and as usual the Democrats find their sails distended no matter how deflated they might have been in the general election two years previous. That might account in general terms for the universal reaction.

There is, however, a general feeling of discontent, based, we believe largely upon conditions over which the Republican administration or any other political body had no control.

It is true that the Federal Reserve Board might have "eased off" the stock market crash, and spread it out over a period of years instead of allowing the economic catastrophe to come thundering to earth within a month.

The reaction to highly speculative ventures nation-wide in scope, affecting as it did largely the wage earning and "white collar" class, coupled with a drought of unprecedented proportions which affected in no uncertain manner the farming class, conspired to form an economic condition best described as a panic.

Together with curtailed buying of manufactured products, a carryover of raw material, came the tariff—the one great factor, we believe, responsible for the overwhelming defeat of the Republican party in the election just past. Whether or not it affected any one individual seriously, a state of mind developed or was developed in rural communities to the effect that farm products—those spared by drought and adverse conditions—were being sold on an open, depressed world market, whereas manufactured products had to be purchased on a protected out-of-reach market.

Without doubt the Republican administration made efforts to curb the situation. It created an all-powerful Farm Board. Prices of farm products fell. It launched national building programs which, however, were and are so enmeshed in red tape, that little, if any, relief was accorded the jobless and unemployed. It established "unemployment committees" on one corner and soup kitchens on the other.

A disposition to hedge politically on the prohibition situation despite the fact of a constantly growing popular sentiment favoring repeal, or modification may or may not have affected the Republican chances of placing their candidates favorably.

After this scholarly attempt to diagnose the situation, we halt and wonder whether we have overlooked any bets. Oily Domes, political rascals in high places, the Young episodes, Brunk, too much Short and no postoffice in Sikeston, or just plainly a case of Hoover Overalls and empty dinner pails. Thoughts fail us.

In behalf of each and every successful candidate, we offer most solemn condolences to defeated candidates. Congratulations to the victorious. Balm for bleeding hearts and to the successful candidates, best wishes for a successful term.

S. E. MO. ARKANSAS CROP REPORT TO NOVEMBER 1

Report of agricultural conditions along the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Lines for the week ending November 1:

Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas: The weather has been cool with heavy frosts, accompanied by some rain the past week. The movement of cotton is now rather slow, however, about 75 per cent of the crop has been picked and the remainder is open ready for picking With favorable weather the crop will all be out in a short time. Both yield and price is fully 25 per cent under last year. This is discouraging to the strictly cotton farmer, and means that the grower will not be able to meet his obligations and finance another crop without assistance. The soybean and pea crop has made remarkable progress and the yields are exceptional in spite of the unprecedented drouth. Winter grain such as wheat, rye and oats look exceptionally good and much of the acreage is being grazed to prevent the plants from developing to the extent that they would be killed by winter freezes. All livestock is in fine condition to go through the winter. The canning factories have been operating full time canning beans and tomatoes, and will now turn their attention to the canning of mustard spinach and sweet potatoes. Home gardens are filled with excellent quality radishes, carrots, turnips mustard, onions, etc., and a good supply of these products is being put up for winter on home canning outfits.

COTTON RELATED TO MANY COMMON PLANTS

King Cotton has several royal kinsmen among the common, well-known plants of this country, all of which belong to the Hibiscus tribe and the Mallow family, according to Dr Thos. H. Kearney, of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The showy flowered rose mallow the althea shrub, okra or gumbo of the South, and other species of Hibiscus have a close relationship to cotton. Thurberia, a small tree or shrub native in the mountains of southern Arizona and New Mexico harbors a weevil almost identical with the cotton-boll weevil and capable of feeding on cotton.

A cotton plant lives for several years in the Tropics where favored by the climate, and the cotton first domesticated by man were doubtless of tree or shrumb type. Tree cottons are now cultivated extensively in the Tropics. All wild or semiwild cottons of the world are naturally long-lived. Annual growth is doubtless an acquired habit, the result of selection by man.

FRACTIONS

A school news item that fractions are being simplified means arithmetic is taking a step in the right direction We presume the initial move must be made cautiously but our earnest hope is that the enlightened educators will grow more bold as time goes on. Now that they have started let them keep on until fractions have been banished from the earth There is no good in fractions. There never has been and never will be. Fractions sui generis are bad eggs They are the despair of mankind from the school age on. They lose vacant lot football games. They waste precious time and good paper They make heavier the cross of the teacher. They come between sweethearts and they part wives and husbands. They worry the pie cutter They are a thorn in the side of the typesetter. Their very terminology is loaded with violations of the truth Some of them are called 'simple" and "proper", as if any fraction could be simple or proper, and there is talk about "reducing them to their lowest terms" when everyone knows it is impossible to be denunciatory enough to reduce a fraction to its lowest terms. Will anyone speak a good word for fractions? Not even a whisper. Then away with them! Checking the evil will do for a starter, but it can be only that. Extinction is the goal. When dealing with fractions we cannot do things by halves.—Post-Dispatch.

Spirality is the secret of cotton's great textile value, according to Dr T. H. Kearney, cotton specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture. The cotton fiber is round when young, but assumes a spiral form with the collapse of the fiber walls as the plant matures.

The 1930 trout fishing season for Missouri closed November 1 and will not reopen until March 1. Trout are winter spawners and the State's two trout hatcheries, Bennett Spring at Bennett Spring State Park and Sequiota near Sprnigfield strip the eggs from the trout and incubate them during this closed season.

ANY BIBLE READER KNOWS THAT A CHURCH IS NOT THE BUILDING

A man, giving his name in The Standard as George W. Anderson, is trying, in an article, to correct us, saying that a church is not a building, but a body of people. Now, my good friend, the best laugh I have enjoyed in years, I experienced when I read that article. I don't think there is a Bible reader in Sikeston or in Scott County, of any denomination, but what knows a church is not the building. I don't believe there is one so densely ignorant.

In two or three issues of The Standard, the first article in September, first paragraph, I stated, "Elder John B. Huffman announces that he will start right away making preparations for erecting the new church BUILDING for Sikeston". In another article about the first week of October, paragraph four, Elder Huffman mentioned about "the task of raising money to erect a new church BUILDING". And in another part of that paragraph, is mentioned "construction of the new house of worship". I did not differentiate in each article, because all enlightened people positively knew that my reference was to a church BUILDING and not a CHURCH.

Thirty-five years ago, while attending school at Cape Girardeau, another man and myself leased the old Cape Girardeau Daily and Weekly New Era, and called it "The Cape City Spice Box". In writing an article about several denominations coming together for worship, in May 1895, I showed plainly that the church is the body of Christ. Thirty years ago, in conducting prayer meetings in Sikeston from house to house, the writer made several talks showing that the Church is the body or real believers and followers of the Lamb of God. Have preached and taught all about the Church or body of Christ almost from coast to coast the past fifteen years. Preached several sermons in Sikeston showing exactly what the Church is.

In A. D. 64, Paul, in writing to the Ephesians, one of the prison epistles, tells exactly what the Church is; Ephesians 1:21-22: "And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things, to the CHURCH. which is His body, the fullness of Him that filleth all in all". And in Colossians, 1:18: "And He is the head of the BODY, THE CHURCH, who is the beginning, the first born from the dead: that in all things He might have the pre-eminence". In 24th verse, our beloved Paul makes it so plain that any child would know, when he says, in 24th verse, "who now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh for His body's sake WHICH IS THE CHURCH". In the 4th chapter of Ephesians, 16th verse, Paul tells about the whole body being joined together.

There is not an elightened member of the body of Christ in our movement from coast to coast who does not know just exactly what the church is. Having been a careful student of the Bible since I was eight years of age, and having read it thru 25 times, much of it 100 and some 1,000 times and being able to quote almost verbatim et literatim, nearly half of the New Testament from memory, I think I am competent to teach the word of God in all its fullness. Have worn out eight Bibles in 18 years. Taught the Bible while in the newspaper business. Have taught Bible schools and ministers in many States, also in Canada.

A body of people might meet under a tree or in a barn and that would be The Church. Matthew, 18:20: "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them."—John B Huffman.

U. S. SCIENTISTS BREED SUPERIOR NEW SUGARCANE

Federal scientists are enthusiastic over the breeding and development of a ne wvariety of sugarcane which bids fair to further increase yields of sugar, already greatly augmented by the adoption in Louisiana of varieties imporated and distributed by the United States Department of Agriculture several years ago. The first release of the new variety, which is now known as C. P. 807, was in the 1930 season, but the sugar experts have watched experimental plantings for several years, and base their expectations on results of these tests in which C. P. 807, outyielded the best of the competing varieties by nearly a ton of sugar per acre, or by more than 35 per cent.

The initials "C. P." in the name of the new variety are derived from Canal Point, in Florida, where the new variety was bred at the United States Department of Agriculture's field station. This station was established by the Bureau of Plant Industry in 1920, and this is the first improved sugarcane variety produced there which the sugar specialists have recommended to the planters. At the station the breeding program has had two objectives, production of a sugarcane that would yield a large quantity of sugar, and which at the same time would be highly resistant to the diseases that nearly wiped out the sugar industry in Louisiana prior to 1926, when it was rejuvenated by the dpeartment's introduction from Java of the disease-tolerant P O. J. varieties.

Compared with the best of the Java canes, P. O. J. 213, which yielded 4865 pounds of sugar per acre in four test plantings last year, the new variety in adjoining plots yielded 6725 pounds.

YOU CAN DEPEND ON FURNITURE ADVERTISING

Better Business Bureaus, for years, have devoted an important part of their time to a careful day by day check of the accuracy of furniture advertising and the reliability of sales practices.

Dependable furniture—Correct furniture—means quite as much to the discerning woman as does her choice of gowns. In buying furniture an understanding of its construction purpose, design and quality is essential.

Most stores frankly "name the woods" of which the furniture is built. This slogan embodies the standards recommended by the Better Business Bureaus and followed by all reliable dealers. They tell the customer frankly about the actual woods used in the construction of furniture.

Its application has resulted in clear understanding of whether the furniture is made of mahogany, walnut, birch, maple, oak, gumwood or a combination of these or other woods. And where veneers are used, with their beautiful grain effects this fact is clearly stated. All retail customers appear to appreciate this

When you buy furniture, note carefully the advertising of these merchants who are frank in telling all about the woods and other materials use in the construction. Appreciate from a salesman a plain, frank explanation about construction and the woods.

Help reputable furniture interests, the Better Business Bureau, and yourself by reporting to the Bureau any experience you may have with misleading advertising or unfair selling practices.

There is, of course, no cost or obligation. Truthful advertising builds confidence.—Better Business Bureau of St. Louis.

IN THE "GOOD OLD DAYS" A TRIP FROM SIKESTON TO BLUFF CONSUMED 7 HOURS

A clipping from a Sikeston newspaper of June, 1913, just 17 years ago, might be of interest to local travelers of Highway 60 west. The story carries a bold headline, "Rushing Trip in Auto Ends" and continues: "Pair Travel From Sikeston to Poplar Bluff via Cape Girardeau in Seven Hours". It further seemed worthy of mention that "No Accidens or Unhappy Incidents Mar Pleasure of Swift Travel Through Fine Country".

The story:

John C. Corrigan of this city and Joseph Matthews of Sikeston arrived in Poplar Bluff at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Sikeston via Cape Girardeau. They traveled in an automobile.

The time made is reported to be extraordinary. The two left Sikeston at 7 o'clock this morning. They went direct from that city to Cape Girardeau taking a roundabout course.

From the Cape they drove toward Poplar Bluff, passing through Advance, Puxico and many other towns. They found the roads easy to pass over and experienced no difficulty in making the journey in Mr. Matthews' machine.

They covered the whole distance in seven hours, had a most enjoyable ride, and arrived here safely and without exhaustion.

Twenty per cent of the purchases of the United States depend upon how the buyer feels mentally and physically. Let's change the menta attitude.—Babson's Report.

Some of the highest-grade alfalfa hay produced in this country comes from districts where the hay is put up in large stacks with sleds and a derrick and then allowed to sweat prior to baling, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Hauling the hay from the field on sleds keeps it free from dust and grit and better preserves its leafiness.

WORKING PEOPLE'S CHURCH COMMANDING NATION-WIDE ATTENTION

Elder John B. Huffman is receiving leters from all over the country in connection with the new Sikeston church for working people, the building to house said congregation is being inquired about by the high, low, rich and poor.

Since last week, Sherwood Smith donated $10 to the building fund for the new church, Whiz Bang Store made a contribution, the Japanese photographer gave us an offering and R. E. Bailey, another little check to help erect the new house of worship for working pepole.

This new edifice is not just for Sikeston and Scott and New Madrid Counties people, but we expect folks to attend for 50 to 200 miles away at least on the Lord's day.

We would like to have the fellowship and good will of as many people as possible, and would prefer to have the good will of a dumb brute than his ill will, if we could obtain it without compromise. We will not antagonize any denomination, either Jew, Catholic or any branch of Protestantism. We believe it to be unChristian and ungentlemanly to attack denominations and don't believe any minister of refinement and high-class Bible scholar will do it. We will preach the whole Bible in strong terms without compromise, but don't have to resort to vile attacks upon other churches to present the Word in all its cutting truths. We have friends in every denomination in Southeast Missouri and the worst church, whose members really believe in God, in the world, has some good in it. We expect to have people of all denominations at our services when the new church building is constructed.

In the 16th chapter of St. Matthew, 18th verse, Jesus says: "And I say also unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church: and the gates of hell cannot prevail against it". The Greek petros, (literally a little rock), and upon this rock retra, which represents Christ, I will build my church Jesus used Peter, as recorded by Luke, who wrote the Acts of the Apostles, second chapter, that when he preached that famous sermon on the day of Pentecost, 3000 souls were added unto them, and the 47th verse says, "And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved". So, since A. D. 33, the Christian religion has spread throughout the world, although it passed thru some dark periods during the past hundreds of years. Christ is the head of the church and the chief corner stone and our only rule and faith and doctrine is the Bible—the whole Bible.

But all over the nation there are true followers of Christ in many denominations and whosoever is really saved and a real Christian, I consider him or her my brother or sister, no matter under what denomination they are serving Christ. The word church in the Greek is ecclesia (ek, meaning "out of", kaleo, "to call") an assembly of called-out-ones, called unto the body of Christ and becoming a part of His church. So, it is Christ and not man or denomination, we are serving.

Send your donations on the new Missouri or United States church for Working People to Elder John Huffman, box 476, Sikeston. Every cent is deposited in bank to credit of building fund.—John B. Huffman.

Rex Whidden, of the State Highway Department at Jefferson City, was a visitor to Sikeston Wednesday.

Mrs. Grace Putman Malone is spending the week in St. Louis visit-relatives and friends. She will attend the Masonic dance given in the Mispah Hall Friday night.

DUNKLIN ELECTS ALL DEMOCRATS

Kennett, November 5.—Although the Republicans, more firmly entrenched than they have been in years, made an effort to sweep aside the normal Democratic majority in Dunklin County, voters of the opposing party turned out and piled up almost a 2 to 1 lead in Tuesday's election. The Democrats succeeded in placing every man on their ticket by an unquestionable majority. Approximately 5500 votes were polled, a normal vote.

In the prosecuting attorney's race the Democrats had no opposition in placing their candidate, Elbert L. Ford, and were also unopposed in placing Langdon R. Jones as representative in the State legislature. For presiding judge of the County Court C. H. Robards piled up a vote of 3623 to 1908 for his Republican opponent, John A. McAnally. For county judge in the first district, W. F. Hilderbrand scored 1401 votes over J. W. Lynn, the Democratic opponent.

James F. Fulbright piled up 3869 votes for congressman to 1665 for Dewey J. Short.

George R. Ellison polled 3894 votes against 1500 for David Blair for Supreme Court judge, and Charles A. Lee piled up 3951 votes to 1559 for John H. Gehrs in the State Superintend of Schools race.

H. T. West won easily over John Ford for probate judge, Birt P. Bryant had an easy time defeating Frank O. Gwyn for circuit clerk, and Sam Schultz won easily over B. H. Moore for county clerk. Elmer Hicklin defeated G. O. Ridings for recorder of deeds.

DESCRIBES KILLING NEAR POPLAR BLUFF

Poplar Bluff, November 3.—Orville Gann, 22 years old, shot and killed Harvey Collins, 32, mill employe, Saturday night, according to the testimony of John Conover at an inquest here today. Conover said he was sititng in an automobile with Collins, near the farm home of Chas. Hunzie where a dance was being held, when, he said, Gann walked up and shot Collins. He said he thought Gann was drunk.

Lillian Bullock and Jack Epps said they also were witnesses to the murder. Wallace Southwood, who had been under arrest with Gann, was released.

A pistol, said by Sheriff Ray McCowan to belong to Gann, was found today in a fence corner.

Officers said they had been told enmity existed between Gann and Collins over Gann's sentence to the penitentiary for an attack on another man. It was chiefly on Collins' testimony, they said, that a conviction was obtained.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moore and family spent Tuesday in Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. C. E. Brenton went to St. Louis Wednesday for a few days' visit.

We are sorry to report that John McMullin broke his shoulder in football practice Monday.

ERNEST HODGE GIVEN LIFE TERM IN SLAYING

Blytheville, Ark., November 4.—Changing his plea to one of guilty at the conclusion of testimony in his trial, Ernest F. Hodge was sentenced to life imprisonment in circuit court here today for the slaying of his estranged wife, Mrs. Annie Ring Hodge, 22.

The State had asked the death penalty for Hodge.

The shooting occurred at Mrs. Hodge's home here. Hodge had gone there to seek a reconciliation. He contended originally the shooting was accidental, but the State contended he shot his wife deliberately when she refused to accompany him to Caruthersville, Mo.

The changing of the plea was a distinct surprise to court attaches and the large throng present. The State had completed the examination of its witnesses at 2 o'clock when Hodge's attorneys, E. E. Alexander and Claude F. Cooper, asked for a recess. A few minutes later, Mr. Alexander asked that the plea be rewritten upon the court docket.

This case, which has attracted wide interest, started Monday morning. The first day was spent in selecting a jury and the case got under way this morning after the defense attorneys refused to make an opening speech.

Miss Vera Snow and W. T. Kitchens, roomers in the Ring home, where the murder took place on the night of June 13, were the principal witnesses for the State. Stories were told of how Hodge and his wife appeared to be happy following a reconciliation, but that arguments arose when the 32-year-old World War veteran became drunk. Both testified, as did the dead woman's mother, Mrs. Minnie E. Ring, that Hodge threatened to kill his wife a few minutes before the shooting.

There were no witnesses. Their two small sons, sleeping in the bedroom were awakened by shots and the six-year-old child said at the time that he saw his mother fall over on the floor. He was not placed on the witness stand.

Hodge, who was captured two days later, when he attempted to buy food at a farm house near this city, had lived in Memphis and Knoxville, he came here from Memphis, in a car alleged to have been stolen, and spent several days with Mrs. Hodge and the children.

At the time of the shooting he maintained that he did not attempt to kill his mother-in-law when a second shot was fired through the house, as Mrs. Ring testified, and that he did not mean to kill his wife. "Why I loved her. You know I did not mean to', was his only explanation of the tragedy.

Well dressed and much calmer than at any time since his arrest, Hodge was composed throughout the trial. Immediately after receiving his sentence he was returned to the same jail cell he has occupied for five months, and Monday he will be taken to Little Rock with other penitentiary prisoners to begin his sentence.

The grand jury submitted its final report today which stated that 75 true bils lof indictments had been returned after a five days' session in which 126 witnesses were examined. The courthouse and county jail were found to be in good condition.

Even if one is a hard boiled editor there are times when he can be right much embarrassed. Recently in our rounds to visit some sick folks, we heard of a black Mammy who was very ill, and went to see her. She asked first if we were a preacher, then if we were the doctor, then if we were a Christian. We were compelled to answer "no" to all her questions, but told her we were interested in all sick folks and came to see her and encourage her. Mammy was undoubtedly a member of a church and wished for someone to offer her consolation for her soul and we were wanting. It has made us think just what might be called a Christian and just who is a Christian. We have often wished that we were fit to pray in order that we might do this little bit for those who crave it, and this Black Mammy was one of those who wished for prayers that might satisfy her soul.

While we are feeling a little bit "mushy" this morning, we wish to tell you a short story about a visit to the Emergency Hospital one evening recently. In one bed was a 7-year-old girl with a badly mangled ankle, in the next bed was a 17-year-old girl with 7 broken ribs, a broken collar bone and breast bone caved. It was bed time and we asked the small girl if she had said her prayers. She said, no, that she didn't know how to say prayers, then we asked the other girl if she ever said her prayers, and she said no, that she had never learned any. Two girls that were near death without a thought of "Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Lord my soul to keep".

When the Congress at Washington is reorganized we hope some good Christian preacher will be appointed Chaplain, who will pray the Lord to guide the membership in the right direction, that they may open their eyes to the great bodies of unemployed throughout the land, to the pitiful condition of the agriculturists and their dependencies, to the merchant and business men who have been back in the corner by adversities, to the low ebb of the morals of the people. Such a prayer coming from the depth of the heart bearing all the sincerity of the soul, might turn the membership to forget politics and favoritism and legislate for those of us who need fair and just treatment that we may exist.

Wouldn't it be embarrassing to have a sweet young thing ask her escort to get her latch key out of her pocket! Banish the thought.

'CAPONE THE GREAT' OFFERS LAW 'TRUCE'

Chicago, November 3.—Alleged overtures of "Scarface Al" Capone to officials, promising to leave Chicago personally, and confine activities of his gang to beer only, brought about the detention tonight of Michael Galvin, an official of the coal teamsters' union.

Galvin was understood to have made representations to four unnamed officials promising:

That Capone would quit labor racketeering; that he would surrender on a vagrancy warrant, and that he would leave Chicago and operate by "remote control".

If:

Authorities agreed not to interfere with his gang's liquor and beer activities and dismissed vagrancy charges against him and his lieutenants.

Galvin was "detained" by detectives for questioning in regard to the alleged offers.

Without mentioning Capone's name directly, Chief Justice John P McGoorty first made public the fact that overtures had been made by the gangster. In addressing the November grand jury, he said that Capone's power had increased rather than decreased since the spectacular assassination of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, had focused the spotlight on gangdom.

Judge McGoorty revealed for the first time that the Capone organizations had made overtures for a peace pact".

"With cool effrontery", he said "overtures very recently have been made to that end that the most widely heralded and powerful gangsters leader in Cook County will withdraw from labor activities, if permitted to conduct, unmolested by the law, his racket in beer.

"Such a truce is unthinkable. There must not be any compromise To call the fight a draw would be fairly satisfactory to the criminals"

"This is my answer", the justice said, as if by this circuitous route sending word to the Capone organization, "it should be understood by those who seek to attain their object by incitement of fear and ruthless violence that nothing less than their crushing defeat or unconditional surrender will be accepted".

Judge McGoorty said that the October grand jury, like the September grand jury found evidence of long existing interlocking interests of crime and politics.

As an instance, he said, they contrasted the frequent changes in the office of chief of police with the permanency of the "lord of the underworld, with their feudal tenur of office and Warwick-like powers to make and unmake political candidates and influence the policies of the city government".

"Gang rule", he added, "is not being broken up. One by one small gangs are being wiped out, but complete control of the protected vice and crime is concentrating in a single organization. Every murder such as that of Joe Aiello recently, makes more powerful the gang control of Chicago.

"The time has come when the people must choose between the rule of the gangster and the rule of the law".

LET $200,000 ROAD JOB

Hayti, November 3.—Bids have been opened for a $200,000 paved road between Hayti and Caruthersville known as State Highway 84 This is at present a gravel road, but the course of the pavement will not be the same as the present gravel.

The contractors have not been announced yet, but grading and the regular routine of road work will be started November 15. A. E. Jennings will be the engineer in charge.

The paving of this road has been contemplated for the last year.

The road will be 5.2 miles long and will take two years to complete. This road will greatly aid the jobless in Pemiscot County.

Removal of cornstalks from the field for subsequent shredding, ensiling, or burning is one of the most effective means of controlling the European corn borer, says the U. S Department of Agriculture. To control the pest by this method, th stalks must be cut at ground level thereby leaving no stubble. Standard corn binders do not cut closer to the ground than 5 or 6 inches but the farmer may now buy, at small cost a low-cutting attachment for four makes of corn binders, or he may make this attachment himself. He may also make a low-cutting hand device according to instructions given in Miscellaneous Publication 56 either of which may be made at little cost. Low cutting is particularly important if the corn is left in the field until late in the season because the borers work downward in the stalks.

PRESIDENT URGES U. S. TO HONOR WAR DEAD

Washington, November 4.—The annual proclamation for the national observance of Armistice Day was issued by President Hoover today:

"Whereas, the 11th day of November, 1918, is forever memorable as the day upon which ended the World War, with its attendant suffering and wastage of human life", the proclamation reads:

"And, whereas, it is fitting that the anniversary of this day should be commemorated by exercises which shall do honor to all those who served our country, and especially to the memory of those who died in its service, believing that their sacrifice was in the cause of peace, which we thereby are solemnly bound to do all in our power to advance and secure and,

"Whereas, by concurrent resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives in 1926, the president was requested to issue a proclamation for the observance of Armistice Day".

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, president of the United States of America, in pursuance of the said concurrent resolution, do hereby order that the flag of the United States of America, in pursuance of the said concurrent resolution, do hereby order that the flag of the United States be displayed on all government buildings on November 11, 1930, and do invite the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches and other suitable places with appropriate ceremonies, giving expression to our gratitude that this year past has seen the agencies of peace sensibly strengthened and that our relations with other peoples are firmly grounded in amity and concord".

President Hoover will occupy the chief place among those who join in the observance of Armistice Day at the Capitol.

Visiting Arlington National Cemetery on the morning of November 11 the president's will be the most illustrious wreath which will be placed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier Later in the day he will address the convention of the World Alliance for International Friendship through the churches, which is to meet here November 10-12.

Services, conducted by Bishop Jas E. Freeman, will be held during the afternoon at the tomb of the former President Woodrow Wilson in the Washington Cathedral. In the evening the American Legion will hold a memorial meeting at the Washington auditorium, with General Pershing as the principal speaker.

NO LESS THAN NOTHING

I always like to think of Missouri as the Representative State; representative of the South, of the Midwest, of the Mississippi Valley. In its border position, it has always presented defiant, clean-breasted men as representative to Congress. So we go to the polls tomorrow and vote for Fulbright, a representative man for a representative State, to which he will not come back and compensate for being a unit of rotten legislation by telling of playing the under-dog to our gracious president.

N. A. Perry, Indianapolis financier, said he told Hoover that three more years depression lay before us. He said that the dissemination of a forecast of an early return to normal should be stopped and actual conditions be protrayed to the country. I wonder if there was any chance of the use of political strategy in having this significant paragraph at the bottom of a column of Hyde and Hoover optimism.

I notice by the papers where the humanitarians are striving to get the U. S. to export helium gas to Europe. It's a shame and a sin that we can't send over some of that filibustering gas that is released in the Halls of Congress. It would be monstrously expensive, though, if it would be sold in about the same proportion it costs us to keep the Senate open for it.

Most people feel only the negative impulse of Religion, or Worship. The positive being the reward they get for pure and virtuous living; the negative, the punishment they receive as their allotment for their evils. It's not the Heaven they receive if they do, it's the Hell they despise if they don't.

By the papers I notice that H. B Warner has deliberately refused to slap the beautiful Esther Ralston. I can't figure out whether it's chivalry, or that H. B. is holding out for an actress that he would like to sock or what.

I'd get a great kick out of it if they would let me pick out one of those 'baby talk" bambinoes.

In one of the News Reels the other night, I found a new use for the Navy. The Commander was talking to his air squadron on board the Airplane Carrier, Lexington. "Now be sure and keep between this boat and the Paramount cameraman". I knew right then that the newsree' couldn't do without the Naval Maneuvers and President Hoover.

Wealthiest Man In Japan Has Income of $1,400,000 a Year, Barn Hachiroeman Mitsui, the yen man from Japan, would last about one night in one of our night clubs or hotels on his year's income.

Harvard to Establish School of Geography. I think that it would be fine if they would send a few of the Naval Conference representatives to this school before they are sent to confer on such a vital subject. Maybe they would have an idea of how much coast line the U. S. and Japan has to defend.

"By gar, the weather shore is fine today, ain't it? But one thing shore is, I wished I'da knowed these pants wuz this cool last summer, I'da wore 'em".

ILLEGAL FISHERMEN LEAD LIST OF LAW VIOLATORS

Illegal fishermen made the biggest score on the arrest sheet as 51 of their number were apprehended for fishing without a license. Other violations were as follows: hunting without a license, 35; pre-season fur hunting, 18; illegal netting and seining, 13; dynamiting, 12; hand fishing 8; selling game fish, 4; selling fur animals, 4; taking game birds out of season, 3; killing non-game birds, 2 One arrest was made for each exceeding the bag limit, selling undersized fish, trapping fish, resisting a game warden, fraudently securing license, and loaning license.

To care for game birds during the winter, the Missouri game commission is establishing permanent quail feeding stations.

MISSOURI LAND VALUES DECLINE

Movements of land values in Missouri which were upward for the century between 1820 and 1920 have been trending downward since, said Conrad H. Hammar of the Missouri College of Agriculture at Farmers' Week Tuesday. The decline was rapid till about 1929 when in many counties the movement was arrested and a small upward movement evident. The decline continued and was even accelerated in 1930.

A good part of the decline since 1920 must be attributed to a declining price level. A continued decline in prices is more probable than any marked rise and any actual general price level declines will be a factor forcing land values still lower.

Despite unfavorable price relationships, however, farm incomes have been rising slowly though apparently not as rapidly as farm standards of living, and land values have continued to fall despite the increased farm incomes. The rise in farm incomes is encouraging, however, and presages an eventual strengthening in land values.

A further factor in checking the decline values is the increasing of population in the United States and the world. The number of people in the United States was greater by 17,000,000 in 1930 than in 1920. The farm population, however, actually declined by more than 4,000,000 during the same period. The land in farms in the United States decreased 31,500,000 acres between 1920 and 1925. The 1930 figures for farm land acreage are not yet avaiable.

If population increases continue we shall ultimately need more land and land values may be expected to rise Our land resources are ample for present needs, however, and land values are not likely to look upward because of any immediate and large increase in the demand for farm lands.

The increasing efficiencey of agricultural production has enabled fewer farmers on fewer acres to supply agricultural products in rapidly increasing volume. Agricultural production between 1917 and 1926 grew faster than population. For this reason also our immediate needs for increased farm acreage will scarcely be large. However, increased efficiency means decreased costs as well as greater production.

Finally, it appears that while there may be some further decline in farm land values these declines will be moderate. There are fair prospects for a rather stable level of land values soon. I see, however, few evidences that would justify one in expecting any widespread and active increase in land values in the near future.

STODDARD IS AGAIN IN FOLD OF DEMOCRATS

Bloomfiled, November 5.—Notwithstanding that the Republican party two years ago scored a heavy victory in Stoddard County, normally Democratic, the Democrats came back Tuesday and piled up a majority of approximately 1200 voes out of a total of 5500 cast, electing the entire ticket. The vote was about 70 per cent of normal.

Frank A. Brannock, Democrat, was elected to the State Legislature over C. E. Clowe of Dexter, by a vote of 3571 to 2282, and W. J. Wilson won the office of presiding judge of the County Court over John J. Ashley by a vote of 3689 to 2168. W. J. Garner was unopposed for judge in the first district and Frank Carney won over I. M. Frye in the second district by 1901 to 1134.

Kip Briney was easily conceded the prosecuting atorney's race against J S. Miller by a vote of 3729 to 2049 Wm. L. Tucker was not opposed for probate judge.

J. C. Henderson was elected circuit clerk over Elzie Snider by a vote of 3602 to 2215, and Walter C. Jackson, leading the county ticket, piled up a vote of 4025 for County Clerk over W. Ransom Scism, who polled only 1775 votes.

The State race went generally with the County ticket vote. James I Fulbright polled 3551 votes to 2326 for Dewey Short for Congressman, and George R. Ellison piled up 3578 votes for Supreme Court Judge to 2261 for David E. Blair. Charles A. Lee led in Stoddard County in the State Superintendent of Schools' race over John H. Gehrs of Cape Grardeau by a vote of 3561 to 2203.

"Exit" is Latin and means "he goes out".

WOULD CONSTRUCT PRESS BUILDING AT STATE FAIR

Sedalia, Mo.—A request for $25,000 with which to erect a building on the Missouri State Fair Grounds for use of Missourians engaged in the newspaper publishing industry will be embodied in the Missouri State Fair Board's budget to the 56th Missouri General Assembly.

This proposed addition to the $1,750,000 State exposition plant would be patterned to house apparatus and equipment used in the manufacture of newspapers and it also would serve as headquarters for Missouri publishers, editors and printers attending the fair annually. Fair officials believe that this would be one of the most educational and entertaining exhibitions ever assembled at any State exposition.

The Fair Board, through Secretary W. D. Smith, also will ask the State legislature for a biennial appropriation of $20,000 to advertise the official State exposition.

Special efforts are being made by the State game officials to protect game birds, including Missouri's famous Bobwhite quail, and the furbearers from the pre-season hunters. The quail season does not open until November 10 and furbearers cannot be trapped before November 15. Trapping regulations, as well as hunting laws, are published in a booklet which is distributed free by the Missouri Game and Fish Department at Jefferson City.

FUNERAL FOR L. B. HOUCK AT WESTERN CITY

Col. L. B. Houck, who died at his home in Eagle Rock, Cal., and for whom funeral servcies were held there Monday, was until eight years ago a resident of Cape Girardeau. Although he died Friday night, advices of his demise were not received until Monday.

Interment, according to the telegram, was in California Monday. Early last week many friends in Cape Girardeau were shocked by a report of Col. Houck's death, which later proved premature. It was later revealed that he had been very sick of pneumonia, although no one here had known that he was sick. At that time it was thought that in case of death the body would be brought here for burial as the Houck family has space in the old Lorimier cemetery where the late Louis Houck was buried and where a foster daughter of Col. and Mrs. Houck rests.

Col. Louis B. Houck spent many years in and out of Cape Girardeau having come here from Bellville, Ill. where he was born, to take employment with his uncle, the late Louis Houck, in the building and operation of railroads. It was while engaged in this work that he met Miss Virginia Hunter at New Madrid, considered at that time to be the most beautiful girl in Southeast Missouri He married her there and she now survives him.

In 1905 he built a home in Cape Girardeau on College avenue, the first one on that street, and it was then the most pretentious house in Cape Girardeau. A year or so previous to that time he and Mrs. Houck had moved to Memphis, Tenn., but they didn't like it there. They resided in Cape Girardeau until 1922 when they moved to California, selling their home here.

Col. and Mrs. Houck own extensive lands in New Madrid County and he came back at least twice a year to look after it. He was here a few months ago and some of his friends remarked that he was not looking at all well. Evidently the attack of pneumonia was fatal because he was otherwise sick.

In 1902 Park Adams established a daily newspaper in Cape Girardeau called the Daily Republican. He soon sold it and it changed hands several times in short order. In these changes Col. Houck bought the paper, having worked in the printing office of his uncle at Belleville. He often remarked that he once owned the paper that eventually grew into The Southeast Missourian.

In 1900 and for a number of years afterward he owned considerable property on Main street. The Buckner-Ragsdale store and the other adjacent building, as well as the site of the present Building & Loan building, were owned by him.

Although he never took an active part in politics, he was honored by Gov. Frederick D. Gardner with an appointment on his personal staff of colonels. This is the only political position he ever filled.

Col. Houck was born in Belleville, Ill., February 28, 1867, a son of Mr and Mrs. Louis Bartholomew Houck and came to Cape Girardeau when about 18 years old to enter the employment of his uncle, the late Louis Houck, in railroad work. He was the assistant freight agent for the old Cape Girardeau & Southwestern railroad and later became general freight agent for all the Houck roads. He served from 1885 to 1898 He amassed considerable property and untily 1908 devoted his time to it. Then he bought the Shelby County & Northwestern Railroad which was the last short line railroad built in Missouri. For several years he devoted much time to it and had two brothers employed on it. Then in 1922 he moved with his family to California and returned each year to look after his interests. His brother, J. C. Houck, still operates the Shelby County railroad, which was doubled in length by the Houck Company.

Col. Houck was here in July and August and when he left he told his associates that he would return in October, but his health declined so rapidly that he was unable to make the trip. He and Mrs. Houck owned considerable apartment house property in Los Angeles and adjacent cities and the income enabled him to retire

Col. Houck leaves, besides his widow, a foster daughter, Miss Frances Houck, three sisters and three brothers. The brothers are: Julius C. Houck, of Shelbina; Hugo Houck of St. Louis; George Houck, Little Rock, Ark. The sisters are: Mrs. Emma Giboney, Cape Girardeau; Mrs. Bertha Geisler, Belleville, Ill.; Mrs. Carrie Eckhardt, St. Louis. Mrs. Louis Houck, an aunt, Mrs. Rebecca Frissell and daughter, Miss Mary, and Major Giboney Houck, are cousins. The Houck addres in California is 5454 Dahlia street, Eagle Rock Station, Los Angeles.—Cape Missourian.

THE MISUSE OF GRAVEL STOCKPILE

Information has reached the Highway Department from several sections of the State, to the effect that gravel from State stockpiles is being used for private purposes. This is a serious practice, as the person so misappropriating State property can be forced to replace all materials taken, and be prosecuted also for common theft.

Gravel stockpiles are placed at regular intervals along gravel roads for the purpose of resurfacing the roads. A certain number of tons are stockpiled for each mile and any shortage will eventually be reflected in the condition of the road bed. People living along graveled roads, and the traveling public in general, should be interested in reporting gravel thefts, and thereby protect the durability of their roads.

MILL PROVES FIRST AID TO FARMER IN DROUGHT AREA

James Range, Washington County, Tennessee, reports that this year he would not continue to farm without his feed mill. Drought-stricken corn, good only for fodder, is being coarsely ground with wheat. The latter makes a heavy, pasty feed when used alone but when mixed with the fodder no feeding difficulties have been experienced. Recently Mr. Range became crowded with other farm work and neglected to provide ground feed for a few days. This resulted in a loss of test of 4 per cent in his cream check and his horses going off feed. Grinding feed again brought the cows back in production, increased his cream test by 5 per cent and put his horses back in good working condition.

THIS WEEK IN MO. HISTORY

Floyd C. Shoemaker

Sixty-nine years ago this week the fortunes of General John C Fremont, as Commander of the Western Department of the Union army, reached the deplorable climax toward which they had long been steadily moving, and he was removed from his post, to be succeeded by General David Hunter. It was on November 2, 1861, in the camp of his army near Springfield, that General Fremont, while in the midst of plans and operations by which he hoped to restore his then rapidly waning military reputation, received the messenger bearing the order of dismissal.

The sting of the blow to Fremont as a recent biographer says, was taken away only by the outburst of pulic disapproval all over the North. Fremont had been unsuccessful, in a large degree, in Missouri; what with the loss of Lyon and the defeat of his army at Wilson's Creek, the fall of Lexington and the loss of Mulligan's command, and his reversal by Lincoln on the terms of his famous proclamation ordering the confiscation of Confederate property and the freeing of Missouri slaves But, there is no doubt that a large section of public opinion, at the time supported him, and deplored his removal. Fremont had done a great deal, in the face of tremendous odds some writers contend, in the hundred days during which he was in charge of the Western Department. The blow, nevertheless, had fallen. Lincoln had decided, and wisely, as even Fremont's defenders admit, that a change was necessary in the West.

Fremont was given command of the newly created Western Department early in July, 1861. He had been in France at the outbreak of the war, and, notified of his appointment as one of the ranking Union generals, he had set to work on the spot, buying in his own authority, arms, ammunition, and other military supplies, for the use of the Federa government. Arriving in the United States shortly afterward, he conferred with President Lincoln and his advisers, and toward the last of July came to St. Louis, his headquarters

Blair and Lyon had already saved St. Louis for the Union, but the city was hostile to the Federal cause Chaos and disorganization characterized the Union command in Missouri. To all this, Fremont soon gave a different complexion. Laboring under a mountain of pressing demands he established Federal dominance in St. Louis, quieted its restless unemployed men, planned and started its fortification, received inrushing streams of recruits, and, at the same time, tried to direct operations in the field over a front that stretched from Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to Paducah Ky.

In a dilemma between reinforcing Lyon in the Southwest and saving Bird's Point on the Mississippi, he chose to direct his limited forces in the later direction, and thereby, with the turn of fortune, brought down upon his head the most severe criticism. Lyon was killed and his army badly defeated by Price and McCulloch. The danger to Bird's Point appeared to have been exaggerated Fremont was held responsibile, but it is set forth, in justification of his course, that he had instructed Lyon to retreat if necessary, rather than make a stand against the Confederates. Some say retreat was impossible; some say it was feasible.

Wilson's Creek was followed by Mulligan's surrender to Price at Lexington. Reinforcement sent to Mulligan failed to arrive, and the South added another victory. In the meantime, Fremont had declared martial law in St. Louis and the area held by his forces, and proclaimed free the slaves of Missourians opposing the national government. Lincoln was not ready for the injection of the latter element into the war and after some correspondence ordered Fremont to amend his proclamation.

With such a list of failures, coupled with a split between him and Blair and growing dissatisfaction with his work at Washington, Fremont took the field himself. He proposed to chase Price in the Southwest, defeat him, and move on to Memphis and New Orleans. In this plan misinformation threatened to embarrass him again when, near Springfield, he was relieved. Price was not where he thought him to be. But the command was turned over to Hunter early in November, and the chase given up for the time. Hunter was superseded by Halleck in a short time, and the affairs of the Western Department began to improve, not, however, entirely due to the work of Fremont's successors.

CONTRACTS LET FOR 486 MILES OF NEW ROADS

The State Highway Commission awarded contracts on one hundred and sixty-two road projects, during the months of September and October, totaling 485.9 miles and at a cost of $5,837,713. All of these projects are now under construction and furnish employment for several thousand men, such as the Department's field engineers and material inspectors; also gravel producers, rock crushing companies, and contractors' forces including much local labor.

Usualy at this season of the year, road construction tapers off until completely by winter weather. This year the Commission has pushed road work during the Fall months in order to relieve the unemployment situation and to furnish work to farmers in the drought stricken areas of the State.

FIRST OFFER OF FREE WOOD RECEIVED

A plan for furnishing wood and fuel free of charge to needy families originated by C. E. Brenton, Red Cross Chairman, is beginning to work. The plan, as outlined in The Sikeston Standard, is simply this: Owners of wood lots or bottom land now covered with drift wood are to allow needy persons to clear the land for wood. Volunteers, it was hoped by Mr. Brenton, would haul the fuel to needy families free of charge, thus relieving the Red Cross Chapter of spending its funds for coal or wood, and allowing its funds to be directed in other channels principally those of supplying food clothing and medical attention.

Mr. Brenton notified The Standard Thursday that one person had volunteered to haul wood free to needy families, and that one land owner had donated a plot of ground which is to be cutover.

It is necessary at once for families needing wood to get in touch with W. Oscar Carroll, secretary of the Red Cross Chapter. Neighbors of needy families are urged to bring this plan to the attention to destitute families who otherwise would not be informed of the plan through the newspapers. Persons having time, a wagon and team or truck are also requested to get in touch with Mr. Carroll at their earliest convenience so that a fuel supply can be laid in before bad weather comes.

BULLDOGS MEET DONIPHAN FRIDAY

The Sikeston Bulldogs will give battle Friday afternoon to the visiting Doniphan eleven following a rest of two weeks. The reserves last Friday downed the Morehouse regulars 12 to 0, but the regulars have had the benefit of an almost complete rest the past week.

Doniphan will go into the battle favored to win, while the locals will be without the services of John McMullin, linesman, the rest of this season McMullin suffered a broken collar bone in scrimmage last Tuesday evening and will be benched for the rest of the year.

URGE SAMARITAN ARMY TO GIVE RELIEF HERE

C. E. Brenton, chairman of the Scott County Red Cross Chapter, is of the opinion that a satisfactory solution has been found to the problem of dealing with the so-called "Samaritan" Army workers who have been operating here for several months.

Following several clashes with police and city officials, a woman solicitor for the "Army" was asked by Mr. Brenton for an explanation of expenditures of money collected in the city. The woman called her husband and co-worker into conference with Mr. Brenton, and the trio reached a tentative agreement for the organization to take care of transient beggars and relief hunters. The Samaritan Army chieftain and Mr. Brenton will have another talk next Monday at which time it is hoped that the out-of-town worker will agree to establish quarters to which transients can be directed for relief.

Mr. Brenton points out that much money has been donated in years past to this out-of-town relief agency, but very little has been expended to give relief to local sufferers. One or two cases have come to the attention to this newspaper, but the relief is out of proportion to the amount collected.

Some weeks ago the male worker for the "Army" was more or less roughly handled by city officials after he bluntly refused to show credentials. He disappeared for some days, but is operating in the city again.

Fall or spring plowing is recommended by entomologists of the U S. Department of Agriculture as an efficient way of controlling grasshoppers. It is usually much easier to combat grasshoppers in the egg or nymph stage than in the adult stage Egg-infested fence rows and stubble land and the ground around old straw stacks should be plowed. Good summer fallow of grasshopper-infested land in stubble, or of grasshopper-infested land grown up to Russian thistles, also greatly reduces the grasshopper hazard, say the entomologists.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN COUNTY AND DISTRICT OFFICES, FIGHT FOR NATIONAL CONTROL

With one exception every political office in Scott County was filled by a Democratic candidate following the balloting last Tuesday. The exception is A. L. Mills, Republican candidate for Justice of the Peace in Commerce Township running without opposition.

Democratic majorities ranged from 1427 to 2500 as the landslide finally halted and the work of clearing the debris away was completed. Dewey Short, incumbent polled 2159 votes to 3858 for James F. Fulbright, Democratic nominee. The County handed Fulbright a majority of 1699.

According to unofficial returns released by the American Republic, Poplar Bluff, late Wednesday evening the race for Congressman favored Fulbright by nearly 3000 votes, with only 39 precincts unaccounted for.

The tabulated vote by precincts follows:

County	No. Pcts.	No. Heard from	Short	Fulbright
Butler	25	25	3744	4358
Cape Girardeau	40	39	4901	4917
Christian	19	18	2375	1170
Douglas	24	16	1412	765
Dunklin	26	25	1669	3864
Howell	28	28	4232	2993
Mississippi	13	13	1088	1697
New Madrid	28	11	1875	2680
Oregon	20	14	899	1823
Ozark	20	4	378	238
Pemiscot	36	34	5279	5303

Scott	28	27	2494	3912
Stoddard	39	37	2350	3579
Stone	20	16	2175	785
Taney	18	15	1386	662
Total	400	341	37450	40836

Short carried two precincts out of the 28 in Scott County. Both are in Fornfelt.

The Republican slate did not carry a single precinct.

H. F. Kirkpatrick, Democratic candidate for recorder of deeds, led the party ticket with 4240 votes, and was swept into office over his opponent, J. R. Griffin, by a majority of 2499 votes, the largest single majority of any candidate in the County.

Roger A. Bailey, Sikeston lawyer and candidate for his first political County office, was defeated by a majority of 1778 votes. The vote as stated in the County Clerk's office Thursday morning, was M. E. Montgomery, incumbent 3902; Bailey 2107

The complete Scott County returns follow:

For Superintendent of Public Schools—Chas. A. Lee (Dem.) 3972 John H. Gehrs (Rep.) 1986. Majority 1986 or exactly two to one.

Judge Supreme Court, Division No. 2—George R. Ellison (Dem.) 4007, David E. Blair (Rep.) 1962, majority 2045.

For Representative in Congress—James F. Fulbright (Dem.) 3858 Dewey Short (Rep.) 2159. Majority 1699.

For Representative—C. C. White, (Dem.) 3612; Jack H. Dolan (Rep.) 2456. Majority 1056.

For Presiding Judge of the County Court—J. W. Heeb (Dem.) 3901, Jos. S. Brady (Rep.) 2190. Majority 1711.

For Recorder of Deeds—H. F. Kirkpatrick (Dem.) 4240; J. R. Griffin (Rep.) 1751. Majority 2499.

In Benton the fight seemed to center about the race for Constable for Moreland Township, with Tom Hodgksis (Dem.) opposing Gene Bertrand (Rep.) Hodgkiss nosed out his opponent by a majority of 220 votes The County Seat town polled by far the heaviest vote in terms of voters in the area, of any community in the County. A total of 436 votes were cast.

Eighteen absentee votes from eleven Counties had been counted in the totals given above, according to the County Clerk, and another packet of ballots arrived Thursday morning which had not yet been tabulated. Six were from Cape Girardeau.

Chaffee turned out an unusually light vote by polling slightly more than 600. Sikeston likewise fell below its normal, with slightly more than 1300, or 500 less than were tabulated in the primary.

CAPE GIRARDEAU COUNTY ELECTS EIGHT DEMOCRATS

Cape Girardeau, November 5.—Cape Girardeau County almost swung into the Democratic column yesterday when final returns from the poll were tabulated this morning and indicated that the County offices had gone majorly Democratic. Republican candidates were elected to four County offices, while the Democrats placed winners in eight. For State offices the County gave Gehrs a majority of about one thousand and Fulbright a slight majority over Short.

Mrs. Louis Emory Baker and son of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Chas. Prow of St. Louis returned to their respective homes Tuesday, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Harry Smith.

Federal seed loans to Missouri farmers total $56,680 according to information received by the Missouri College of Agriculture from Washington. This represents a total of 952 application that were approved.

J. VAL BAKER OUSTED IN NEW MADRID CO

New Madrid, November 5.—With 21 precincts out of 28 heard from, New Madrid County went overwhelmingly Democratic, results from Tuesday's election show. The town of New Madrid was at least two to one in favor of the Democratic candidates. In the presidential election two years ago, the County was Republican, but in the election preceding that it had been Democratic.

The interest locally was centered on the race for prosecuting attorney in which James V. Conran, Democrat nosed out J. Val Baker, incumbent by a vote of 4429 to 2906. J. F. Fulbright received 4254 votes to Dewey Short's 3023 in the race for Congress from the 14th district. J. H. Gehrs received 2952 votes to Charles A Lee's 4295. David E. Blair received 2969 to George Ellison's 4268 for Judge of the Supreme Court.

Merrill Spitler, present State representative, was defeated by T. A Penman by a vote of 2002 to 4220. G L. Tinsley was defeated for presiding judge of the County Court by S. S Thompson, their votes being 2999 and 4293 respectively.

Elon Proffer was elected judge of the County Court in the first district by a vote of 2208, defeating R. W Baskin, who received 1574. In the second district, O. R. Rhodes won over the incumbent, Robert B. Meentemeyer, by a vote of 1984 to 1431. Lee C. Phillips was elected judge of the Probate Court by a vote of 4173 as compared with 3052 for his opponent, I. L. Parrett.

L. D. Marlowe, incumbent, was defeated for collector by P. J Stearns by a vote of 2998 to 4129. Owen J. Taul received 3061 votes for clerk of the Circuit Court, being defeated by Burl E. Underwood, who received 4207. Roger L. Jones defeated W. E. Denton, incumbent, for the office of Clerk of the County Court by a vote of 4171 to 3120. Grover Meate received 4171 votes to defeat George A. Babcock, present recorder of deeds, for that office, Babcock receiving 3139.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN WAYNE COUNTY

Piedmont, Mo., November 5.—Among the local contests in yesterday's election the Democrats were successful in every race here yesterday. All the Democratic candidates in this township were elected by majorities of more than two to one.

The successful candidates were: John W. Young and J. R. Merryman for Justice of the Peace and G. W Turner for Constable. They defeated J. E. Chism and E. A. Schiek for Justice of the Peace and C. E. Carpenter for Constable.

The two wards of this township also gave a more than two to one majority for all Democratic candidates for State and County offices.

CONTRACTORS SHOW INTEREST IN FUTURE ROAD WORK

Keen competition has developed among the contractors bidding or State road work. This fact was demonstrated Friday, October 31, when Chief Engineer T. H. Cutler opened bids on fifty new sections of roads. Four hundred and seventy-six bids were submitted by contractors on these fifty projects.

Dexter Has $15,000 Fire

Dexter, November 3.—A $15,000 blaze here early this morning destroyed the pasteurizing equipment of the Dexter Feed and Creamery Co two cars of feedstuff, a Standard Oil station and repair equipment, all in the Lee Brothers Building here.

The fire had spread through the inside of the building before it was discovered and three streams of water were played on the building to bring it under control after over an hour of fighting.

Mrs. Milem Limbaugh entertained at bridge Thursday evening.

COUNCIL SETS NOVEMBER 24 AS DATE FOR OPENING OF BIDS ON MUNY LIGHT PLANT

Sikeston's municipal light and power plant may be expected to assume definite proportions after Monday afternoon, November 24. At two o'clock the afternoon of that date the City Council will meet to open bids on the municipal project.

Complete plans for the building, engines, distribution system and white way layout were brought to Sikeston last Monday by W. A. Fuller, head of the St. Louis engineering firm by that name, and the Council that night in regular session placed its official OK on the blueprints and established the date for considering bids.

Complete specifications and bidder's blanks are printed and have been delivered to the offices of the Fuller Company and to the City Clerk here. A notice to the effect that bids will be received up to November 24 is carried in this issue of The Standard, and has also been placed in various trade and engineering magazines.

Mayor N. E. Fuchs, Otto Hahs, J. L. Matthews and J. F. Cox, comprising a special building committee of the Council, met in special session Wednesday afternoon, together with other members of the Council and ironed out several minor technical details.

The municipal light and power project has been discussed pro and con for almost three years. Last April first it was placed on the ballot and received the necessary two-thirds majority vote necessary, and since that time technical engineering financial and legal matters have been gradually cleared away.

The end of this month will probably see actual construction work begun. Six months later, it is estimated, should see the plant and system completed and in operation.

A SURPRISE SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was given Monday night at the home of Mrs. Frank Seabaugh, 956 Kathleen Avenue, in honor of Mrs. Arthur Sitzes, formerly Miss Vivian Pratt of this city. Refreshments of hot chocolate, sandwiches and ice cream were served. The following were present: Mrs. J. R. Elkins, Miss Opal Vaughn, Herbert Fox of Morehouse, Mrs. Etna, Brown, Lucille Ellis, Mrs. L H. Shivel, Mrs. Ira Shuffit, Mrs. Mary Milbourn, Mrs. Wayne Feezar, Mrs Mabel Harn, Mrs. Frances Kirby, Mrs. Karl Bryzeal, Mrs. Add Pratt, Mrs. Joe Schaeffer, Mrs. Harry Pratt, Mrs. Maude Sitzes, Miss Maxine Pratt, Mrs. Barney Jones, Miss Ella Lee Jones, Laura Wright, Mrs. Frank Moody and Mrs. Lillie McFadden.

IRA CHANEY MARRIES GIRL IN ILLINOIS

Friends were very much surprised to hear of the marriage of Ira Chaney of this city to Miss Hazel Ballard of Belnep, Ill. The couple was quietly married on Saturday afternoon, November 1, at Charleston, with Calvin Carter of this city being the only witness. Mr. Chaney is an employee of the International Shoe Co.

The young couple will make their home with the groom's parents until the near future.

Their friends wish them lots of happiness and success.

Smoking cigars is common among women of the poorer classes in Colombia.

AFTER THE BALL

Democratic incumbents slept an extra hour or two Wednesday morning and then went to their respective offices to clear away the wreckage of the Democratic landslide which had befallen their opponents the day previous.

Without exception every Democratic County candidate rolled into office on the almost Nation-wide wave of popular Democratic approval.

The question arises, why?

Which in turn leads to more talk.

In the first place it was an "off year" election, and as usual the Democrats find their sails distended no matter how deflated they might have been in the general election two years previous. That might account in general terms for the universal reaction.

There is, however, a general feeling of discontent, based, we believe largely upon conditions over which the Republican administration or any other political body had no control.

It is true that the Federal Reserve Board might have "eased off" the stock market crash, and spread it out over a period of years instead of allowing the economic catastrophe to come thundering to earth within a month.

The reaction to highly speculative ventures nation-wide in scope, affecting as it did largely the wage earning and "white collar" class, coupled with a drought of unprecedented proportions which affected in no uncertain manner the farming class, conspired to form an economic condition best described as a panic.

Together with curtailed buying of manufactured products, a carryover of raw material, came the tariff—the one great factor, we believe, responsible for the overwhelming defeat of the Republican party in the election just past. Whether or not it affected any one individual seriously, a state of mind developed or was developed in rural communities to the effect that farm products—those spared by drought and adverse conditions—were being sold on an open, depressed world market, whereas manufactured products had to be purchased on a protected out-of-reach market.

Without doubt the Republican administration made efforts to curb the situation. It created an all-powerful Farm Board. Prices of farm products fell. It launched national building programs which, however, were and are so enmeshed in red tape, that little, if any, relief was accorded the jobless and unemployed. It established "unemployment committees" on one corner and soup kitchens on the other.

A disposition to hedge politically on the prohibition situation despite the fact of a constantly growing popular sentiment favoring repeal, or modification may or may not have affected the Republican chances of placing their candidates favorably.

After this scholarly attempt to diagnose the situation, we halt and wonder whether we have overlooked any bets. Oily Domes, political rascals in high places, the Young episodes, Brunk, too much Short and no postoffice in Sikeston, or just plainly a case of Hoover Overalls and empty dinner pails. Thoughts fail us.

In behalf of each and every successful candidate, we offer most solemn condolences to defeated candidates. Congratulations to the victorious. Balm for bleeding hearts and to the successful candidates, best wishes for a successful term.

S. E. MO. ARKANSAS CROP REPORT TO NOVEMBER 1

Report of agricultural conditions along the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Lines for the week ending November 1:

Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas: The weather has been cool with heavy frosts, accompanied by some rain the past week. The movement of cotton is now rather slow, however, about 75 per cent of the crop has been picked and the remainder is open ready for picking. With favorable weather the crop will all be out in a short time. Both yield and price is fully 25 per cent under last year. This is discouraging to the strictly cotton farmer, and means that the grower will not be able to meet his obligations and finance another crop without assistance. The soybean and pea crop has made remarkable progress and the yields are exceptional in spite of the unprecedented drouth. Winter grain such as wheat, rye and oats look exceptionally good and much of the acreage is being grazed to prevent the plants from developing to the extent that they would be killed by winter freezes. All livestock is in fine condition to go through the winter. The canning factories have been operating full time canning beans and tomatoes, and will now turn their attention to the canning of mustard spinach and sweet potatoes. Home gardens are filled with excellent quality radishes, carrots, turnips mustard, onions, etc., and a good supply of these products is being put up for winter on home canning outfits.

COTTON RELATED TO MANY COMMON PLANTS

King Cotton has several royal kinsmen among the common, well-known plants of this country, all of which belong to the Hibiscus tribe and the Mallow family, according to Dr Thos. H. Kearney, of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The showy flowered rose mallow the althea shrub, okra or gumbo of the South, and other species of Hibiscus have a close relationship to cotton. Thurberia, a small tree or shrub native in the mountains of southern Arizona and New Mexico harbors a weevil almost identical with the cotton-boll weevil and capable of feeding on cotton.

A cotton plant lives for several years in the Tropics where favored by the climate, and the cotton first domesticated by man were doubtless of tree or shrumb type. Tree cottons are now cultivated extensively in the Tropics. All wild or semiwild cottons of the world are naturally long-lived. Annual growth is doubtless an acquired habit, the result of selection by man.

FRACTIONS

A school news item that fractions are being simplified means arithmetic is taking a step in the right direction. We presume the initial move must be made cautiously but our earnest hope is that the enlightened educators will grow more bold as time goes on. Now that they have started let them keep on until fractions have been banished from the earth. There is no good in fractions. There never has been and never will be. Fractions sui generis are bad eggs. They are the despair of mankind from the school age on. They lose vacant lot football games. They waste precious time and good paper. They make heavier the cross of the teacher. They come between sweethearts and they part wives and husbands. They worry the pie cutter. They are a thorn in the side of the typesetter. Their very terminology is loaded with violations of the truth. Some of them are called 'simple" and "proper", as if any fraction could be simple or proper, and there is talk about "reducing them to their lowest terms" when everyone knows it is impossible to be denunciatory enough to reduce a fraction to its lowest terms. Will anyone speak a good word for fractions? Not even a whisper. Then away with them! Checking the evil will do for a starter, but it can be only that. Extinction is the goal. When dealing with fractions we cannot do things by halves.—Post-Dispatch.

Spirality is the secret of cotton's great textile value, according to Dr T. H. Kearney, cotton specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture. The cotton fiber is round when young, but assumes a spiral form with the collapse of the fiber walls as the plant matures.

The 1930 trout fishing season for Missouri closed November 1 and will not reopen until March 1. Trout are winter spawners and the State's two trout hatcheries, Bennett Spring at Bennett Spring State Park and Sequiota near Sprnigfield strip the eggs from the trout and incubate them during this closed season.

ANY BIBLE READER KNOWS THAT A CHURCH IS NOT THE BUILDING

A man, giving his name in The Standard as George W. Anderson, is trying, in an article, to correct us, saying that a church is not a building, but a body of people. Now, my good friend, the best laugh I have enjoyed in years, I experienced when I read that article. I don't think there is a Bible reader in Sikeston or in Scott County, of any denomination, but what knows a church is not the building. I don't believe there is one so densely ignorant.

In two or three issues of The Standard, the first article in September, first paragraph, I stated, "Elder John B. Huffman announces that he will start right away making preparations for erecting the new church BUILDING for Sikeston". In another article about the first week of October, paragraph four, Elder Huffman mentioned about "the task of raising money to erect a new church BUILDING". And in another part of that paragraph, is mentioned "construction of the new house of worship". I did not differentiate in each article, because all enlightened people positively knew that my reference was to a church BUILDING and not a CHURCH.

Thirty-five years ago, while attending school at Cape Girardeau, another man and myself leased the old Cape Girardeau Daily and Weekly New Era, and called it "The Cape City Spice Box". In writing an article about several denominations coming together for worship, in May 1895, I showed plainly that the church is the body of Christ. Thirty years ago, in conducting prayer meetings in Sikeston from house to house, the writer made several talks showing that the Church is the body or real believers and followers of the Lamb of God. Have preached and taught all about the Church or body of Christ almost from coast to coast the past fifteen years. Preached several sermons in Sikeston showing exactly what the Church is.

In A. D. 64, Paul, in writing to the Ephesians, one of the prison epistles, tells exactly what the Church is; Ephesians 1:21-22: "And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things, to the CHURCH. which is His body, the fullness of Him that filleth all in all" And in Colossians, 1:18: "And He is the head of the BODY, THE CHURCH, who is the beginning, the first born from the dead: that in all things He might have the pre-eminence". In 24th verse, our beloved Paul makes it so plain that any child would know, when he says, in 24th verse, "who now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh for His body's sake WHICH IS THE CHURCH". In the 4th chapter of Ephesians, 16th verse, Paul tells about the whole body being joined together.

There is not an elightened member of the body of Christ in our movement from coast to coast who does not know just exactly what the church is. Having been a careful student of the Bible since I was eight years of age, and having read it thru 25 times, much of it 100 and some 1,000 times and being able to quote almost verbatim et literatim, nearly half of the New Testament from memory, I think I am competent to teach the word of God in all its fullness. Have worn out eight Bibles in 18 years. Taught the Bible while in the newspaper business. Have taught Bible schools and ministers in many States, also in Canada.

A body of people might meet under a tree or in a barn and that would be The Church. Matthew, 18:20: "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them."—John B Huffman.

U. S. SCIENTISTS BREED SUPERIOR NEW SUGARCANE

Federal scientists are enthusiastic over the breeding and development of a ne wvariety of sugarcane which bids fair to further increase yields of sugar, already greatly augmented by the adoption in Louisiana of varieties imporated and distributed by the United States Department of Agriculture several years ago. The first release of the new variety, which is now known as C. P. 807, was in the 1930 season, but the sugar experts have watched experimental plantings for several years, and base their expectations on results of these tests in which C. P. 807, outyielded the best of the competing varieties by nearly a ton of sugar per acre, or by more than 35 per cent.

The initials "C. P." in the name of the new variety are derived from Canal Point, in Florida, where the new variety was bred at the United States Department of Agriculture's field station. This station was established by the Bureau of Plant Industry in 1920, and this is the first improved sugarcane variety produced there which the sugar specialists have recommended to the planters. At the station the breeding program has had two objectives, production of a sugarcane that would yield a large quantity of sugar, and which at the same time would be highly resistant to the diseases that nearly wiped out the sugar industry in Louisiana prior to 1926, when it was rejuvenated by the dpeartment's introduction from Java of the disease-tolerant P O. J. varieties.

Compared with the best of the Java canes, P. O. J. 213, which yielded 4865 pounds of sugar per acre in four test plantings last year, the new variety in adjoining plots yielded 6725 pounds.

YOU CAN DEPEND ON FURNITURE ADVERTISING

Better Business Bureaus, for years, have devoted an important part of their time to a careful day by day check of the accuracy of furniture advertising and the reliability of sales practices.

Dependable furniture—Correct furniture—means quite as much to the discerning woman as does her choice of gowns. In buying furniture an understanding of its construction purpose, design and quality is essential.

Most stores frankly "name the woods" of which the furniture is built. This slogan embodies the standards recommended by the Better Business Bureaus and followed by all reliable dealers. They tell the customer frankly about the actual woods used in the construction of furniture.

Its application has resulted in clear understanding of whether the furniture is made of mahogany, walnut, birch, maple, oak, gumwood or a combination of these or other woods. And where veneers are used, with their beautiful grain effects this fact is clearly stated. All retail customers appear to appreciate this

When you buy furniture, note carefully the advertising of these merchants who are frank in telling all about the woods and other materials use in the construction. Appreciate from a salesman a plain, frank explanation about construction and the woods.

Help reputable furniture interests, the Better Business Bureau, and yourself by reporting to the Bureau any experience you may have with misleading advertising or unfair selling practices.

There is, of course, no cost or obligation. Truthful advertising builds confidence.—Better Business Bureau of St. Louis.

IN THE "GOOD OLD DAYS" A TRIP FROM SIKESTON TO BLUFF CONSUMED 7 HOURS

A clipping from a Sikeston newspaper of June, 1913, just 17 years ago, might be of interest to local travelers of Highway 60 west. The story carries a bold headline, "Rushing Trip in Auto Ends" and continues: "Pair Travel From Sikeston to Poplar Bluff via Cape Girardeau in Seven Hours". It further seemed worthy of mention that "No Accidens or Unhappy Incidents Mar Pleasure of Swift Travel Through Fine Country".

The story:

John C. Corrigan of this city and Joseph Matthews of Sikeston arrived in Poplar Bluff at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Sikeston via Cape Girardeau. They traveled in an automobile.

The time made is reported to be extraordinary. The two left Sikeston at 7 o'clock this morning. They went direct from that city to Cape Girardeau taking a roundabout course.

From the Cape they drove toward Poplar Bluff, passing through Advance, Puxico and many other towns. They found the roads easy to pass over and experienced no difficulty in making the journey in Mr. Matthews' machine.

They covered the whole distance in seven hours, had a most enjoyable ride, and arrived here safely and without exhaustion.

Twenty per cent of the purchases of the United States depend upon how the buyer feels mentally and physically. Let's change the menta attitude.—Babson's Report.

Some of the highest-grade alfalfa hay produced in this country comes from districts where the hay is put up in large stacks with sleds and a derrick and then allowed to sweat prior to baling, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Hauling the hay from the field on sleds keeps it free from dust and grit and better preserves its leafiness.

WORKING PEOPLE'S CHURCH COMMANDING NATION-WIDE ATTENTION

Elder John B. Huffman is receiving leters from all over the country in connection with the new Sikeston church for working people, the building to house said congregation is being inquired about by the high, low, rich and poor.

Since last week, Sherwood Smith donated $10 to the building fund for the new church, Whiz Bang Store made a contribution, the Japanese photographer gave us an offering and R. E. Bailey, another little check to help erect the new house of worship for working pepole.

This new edifice is not just for Sikeston and Scott and New Madrid Counties people, but we expect folks to attend for 50 to 200 miles away at least on the Lord's day.

We would like to have the fellowship and good will of as many people as possible, and would prefer to have the good will of a dumb brute than his ill will, if we could obtain it without compromise. We will not antagonize any denomination, either Jew, Catholic or any branch of Protestantism. We believe it to be unChristian and ungentlemanly to attack denominations and don't believe any minister of refinement and high-class Bible scholar will do it. We will preach the whole Bible in strong terms without compromise, but don't have to resort to vile attacks upon other churches to present the Word in all its cutting truths. We have friends in every denomination in Southeast Missouri and the worst church, whose members really believe in God, in the world, has some good in it. We expect to have people of all denominations at our services when the new church building is constructed.

In the 16th chapter of St. Matthew, 18th verse, Jesus says: "And I say also unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church: and the gates of hell cannot prevail against it". The Greek petros, (literally a little rock), and upon this rock retra, which represents Christ, I will build my church Jesus used Peter, as recorded by Luke, who wrote the Acts of the Apostles, second chapter, that when he preached that famous sermon on the day of Pentecost, 3000 souls were added unto them, and the 47th verse says, "And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved". So, since A. D. 33, the Christian religion has spread throughout the world, although it passed thru some dark periods during the past hundreds of years. Christ is the head of the church and the chief corner stone and our only rule and faith and doctrine is the Bible—the whole Bible.

But all over the nation there are true followers of Christ in many denominations and whosoever is really saved and a real Christian, I consider him or her my brother or sister, no matter under what denomination they are serving Christ. The word church in the Greek is ecclesia (ek, meaning "out of", kaleo, "to call") an assembly of called-out-ones, called unto the body of Christ and becoming a part of His church. So, it is Christ and not man or denomination, we are serving.

Send your donations on the new Missouri or United States church for Working People to Elder John Huffman, box 476, Sikeston. Every cent is deposited in bank to credit of building fund.—John B. Huffman.

DUNKLIN ELECTS ALL DEMOCRATS

Kennett, November 5.—Although the Republicans, more firmly entrenched than they have been in years, made an effort to sweep aside the normal Democratic majority in Dunklin County, voters of the opposing party turned out and piled up almost a 2 to 1 lead in Tuesday's election. The Democrats succeeded in placing every man on their ticket by an unquestionable majority. Approximately 5500 votes were polled, a normal vote.

In the prosecuting attorney's race the Democrats had no opposition in placing their candidate, Elbert L. Ford, and were also unopposed in placing Langdon R. Jones as representative in the State legislature. For presiding judge of the County Court C. H. Robards piled up a vote of 3623 to 1908 for his Republican opponent, John A. McAnally. For county judge in the first district, W. F. Hilderbrand scored 1401 votes over J. W. Lynn, the Democratic opponent.

James F. Fulbright piled up 3869 votes for congressman to 1665 for Dewey J. Short.

George R. Ellison polled 3894 votes against 1500 for David Blair for Supreme Court judge, and Charles A. Lee piled up 3951 votes to 1559 for John H. Gehrs in the State Superintend of Schools race.

H. T. West won easily over John Ford for probate judge, Birt P. Bryant had an easy time defeating Frank O. Gwyn for circuit clerk, and Sam Schultz won easily over B. H. Moore for county clerk. Elmer Hicklin defeated G. O. Ridings for recorder of deeds.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Tom Roberts with Mrs. Roberts and Mrs Bradley as hostesses.

DESCRIBES KILLING NEAR POPLAR BLUFF

Poplar Bluff, November 3.—Orville Gann, 22 years old, shot and killed Harvey Collins, 32, mill employe, Saturday night, according to the testimony of John Conover at an inquest here today. Conover said he was sititng in an automobile with Collins, near the farm home of Chas. Hunzie where a dance was being held, when, he said, Gann walked up and shot Collins. He said he thought Gann was drunk.

Lillian Bullock and Jack Epps said they also were witnesses to the murder. Wallace Southwood, who had been under arrest with Gann, was released.

A pistol, said by Sheriff Ray McCowan to belong to Gann, was found today in a fence corner.

Officers said they had been told enmity existed between Gann and Collins over Gann's sentence to the penitentiary for an attack on another man. It was chiefly on Collins' testimony, they said, that a conviction was obtained.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moore and family spent Tuesday in Memphis, Tenn.

We are sorry to report that John McMullin broke his shoulder in football practice Monday.

ERNEST HODGE GIVEN LIFE TERM IN SLAYING

Blytheville, Ark., November 4.—Changing his plea to one of guilty at the conclusion of testimony in his trial, Ernest F. Hodge was sentenced to life imprisonment in circuit court here today for the slaying of his estranged wife, Mrs. Annie Ring Hodge, 22.

The State had asked the death penalty for Hodge.

The shooting occurred at Mrs. Hodge's home here. Hodge had gone there to seek a reconciliation. He contended originally the shooting was accidental, but the State contended he shot his wife deliberately when she refused to accompany him to Caruthersville, Mo.

The changing of the plea was a distinct surprise to court attaches and the large throng present. The State had completed the examination of its witnesses at 2 o'clock when Hodge's attorneys, E. E. Alexander and Claude F. Cooper, asked for a recess. A few minutes later, Mr. Alexander asked that the plea be rewritten upon the court docket.

This case, which has attracted wide interest, started Monday morning. The first day was spent in selecting a jury and the case got under way this morning after the defense attorneys refused to make an opening speech.

Miss Vera Snow and W. T. Kitchens, roomers in the Ring home, where the murder took place on the night of June 13, were the principal witnesses for the State. Stories were told of how Hodge and his wife appeared to be happy following a reconciliation, but that arguments arose when the 32-year-old World War veteran became drunk. Both testified, as did the dead woman's mother, Mrs. Minnie E. Ring, that Hodge threatened to kill his wife a few minutes before the shooting.

There were no witnesses. Their two small sons, sleeping in the bedroom were awakened by shots and the six-year-old child said at the time that he saw his mother fall over on the floor. He was not placed on the witness stand.

Hodge, who was captured two days later, when he attempted to buy food at a farm house near this city, had lived in Memphis and Knoxville, he came here from Memphis, in a car alleged to have been stolen, and spent several days with Mrs. Hodge and the children.

At the time of the shooting he maintained that he did not attempt to kill his mother-in-law when a second shot was fired through the house, as Mrs. Ring testified, and that he did not mean to kill his wife. "Why I loved her. You know I did not mean to', was his only explanation of the tragedy.

Well dressed and much calmer than at any time since his arrest, Hodge was composed throughout the trial. Immediately after receiving his sentence he was returned to the same jail cell he has occupied for five months, and Monday he will be taken to Little Rock with other penitentiary prisoners to begin his sentence.

The grand jury submitted its final report today which stated that 75 true bils lof indictments had been returned after a five days' session in which 126 witnesses were examined. The courthouse and county jail were found to be in good condition.

Even if one is a hard boiled editor there are times when he can be right much embarrassed. Recently in our rounds to visit some sick folks, we heard of a black Mammy who was very ill, and went to see her. She asked first if we were a preacher, then if we were the doctor, then if we were a Christian. We were compelled to answer "no" to all her questions, but told her we were interested in all sick folks and came to see her and encourage her. Mammy was undoubtedly a member of a church and wished for someone to offer her consolation for her soul and we were wanting. It has made us think just what might be called a Christian and just who is a Christian. We have often wished that we were fit to pray in order that we might do this little bit for those who crave it, and this Black Mammy was one of those who wished for prayers that might satisfy her soul.

While we are feeling a little bit "mushy" this morning, we wish to tell you a short story about a visit to the Emergency Hospital one evening recently. In one bed was a 7-year-old girl with a badly mangled ankle, in the next bed was a 17-year-old girl with 7 broken ribs, a broken collar bone and breast bone caved. It was bed time and we asked the small girl if she had said her prayers. She said, no, that she didn't know how to say prayers, then we asked the other girl if she ever said her prayers, and she said no, that she had never learned any. Two girls that were near death without a thought of "Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Lord my soul to keep".

When the Congress at Washington is reorganized we hope some good Christian preacher will be appointed Chaplain, who will pray the Lord to guide the membership in the right direction, that they may open their eyes to the great bodies of unemployed throughout the land, to the pitiful condition of the agriculturists and their dependencies, to the merchant and business men who have been back in the corner by adversities, to the low ebb of the morals of the people. Such a prayer coming from the depth of the heart bearing all the sincerity of the soul, might turn the membership to forget politics and favoritism and legislate for those of us who need fair and just treatment that we may exist.

Wouldn't it be embarrassing to have a sweet young thing ask her escort to get her latch key out of her pocket! Banish the thought.

'CAPONE THE GREAT' OFFERS LAW 'TRUCE'

Chicago, November 3.—Alleged overtures of "Scarface Al" Capone to officials, promising to leave Chicago personally, and confine activities of his gang to beer only, brought about the detention tonight of Michael Galvin, an official of the coal teamsters' union.

Galvin was understood to have made representations to four unnamed officials promising:

That Capone would quit labor racketeering; that he would surrender on a vagrancy warrant, and that he would leave Chicago and operate by "remote control".

If:

Authorities agreed not to interfere with his gang's liquor and beer activities and dismissed vagrancy charges against him and his lieutenants.

Galvin was "detained" by detectives for questioning in regard to the alleged offers.

Without mentioning Capone's name directly, Chief Justice John P McGoorty first made public the fact that overtures had been made by the gangster. In addressing the November grand jury, he said that Capone's power had increased rather than decreased since the spectacular assassination of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, had focused the spotlight on gangdom.

Judge McGoorty revealed for the first time that the Capone organizations had made overtures for a peace pact".

"With cool effrontery", he said "overtures very recently have been made to that end that the most widely heralded and powerful gangsters leader in Cook County will withdraw from labor activities, if permitted to conduct, unmolested by the law, his racket in beer.

"Such a truce is unthinkable. There must not be any compromise To call the fight a draw would be fairly satisfactory to the criminals"

"This is my answer", the justice said, as if by this circuitous route sending word to the Capone organization, "it should be understood by those who seek to attain their object by incitement of fear and ruthless violence that nothing less than their crushing defeat or unconditional surrender will be accepted".

Judge McGoorty said that the October grand jury, like the September grand jury found evidence of long existing interlocking interests of crime and politics.

As an instance, he said, they contrasted the frequent changes in the office of chief of police with the permanency of the "lord of the underworld, with their feudal tenur of office and Warwick-like powers to make and unmake political candidates and influence the policies of the city government".

"Gang rule", he added, "is not being broken up. One by one small gangs are being wiped out, but complete control of the protected vice and crime is concentrating in a single organization. Every murder such as that of Joe Aiello recently, makes more powerful the gang control of Chicago.

"The time has come when the people must choose between the rule of the gangster and the rule of the law".

LET $200,000 ROAD JOB

Hayti, November 3.—Bids have been opened for a $200,000 paved road between Hayti and Caruthersville known as State Highway 84 This is at present a gravel road, but the course of the pavement will not be the same as the present gravel.

The contractors have not been announced yet, but grading and the regular routine of road work will be started November 15. A. E. Jennings will be the engineer in charge.

The paving of this road has been contemplated for the last year.

The road will be 5.2 miles long and will take two years to complete. This road will greatly aid the jobless in Pemiscot County.

Removal of cornstalks from the field for subsequent shredding, ensiling, or burning is one of the most effective means of controlling the European corn borer, says the U. S Department of Agriculture. To control the pest by this method, th stalks must be cut at ground level thereby leaving no stubble. Standard corn binders do not cut closer to the ground than 5 or 6 inches but the farmer may now buy, at small cost a low-cutting attachment for four makes of corn binders, or he may make this attachment himself. He may also make a low-cutting hand device according to instructions given in Miscellaneous Publication 56 either of which may be made at little cost. Low cutting is particularly important if the corn is left in the field until late in the season because the borers work downward in the stalks.

PRESIDENT URGES U. S. TO HONOR WAR DEAD

Washington, November 4.—The annual proclamation for the national observance of Armistice Day was issued by President Hoover today:

"Whereas, the 11th day of November, 1918, is forever memorable as the day upon which ended the World War, with its attendant suffering and wastage of human life", the proclamation reads:

"And, whereas, it is fitting that the anniversary of this day should be commemorated by exercises which shall do honor to all those who served our country, and especially to the memory of those who died in its service, believing that their sacrifice was in the cause of peace, which we thereby are solemnly bound to do all in our power to advance and secure and,

"Whereas, by concurrent resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives in 1926, the president was requested to issue a proclamation for the observance of Armistice Day".

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, president of the United States of America, in pursuance of the said concurrent resolution, do hereby order that the flag of the United States of America, in pursuance of the said concurrent resolution, do hereby order that the flag of the United States be displayed on all government buildings on November 11, 1930, and do invite the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches and other suitable places with appropriate ceremonies, giving expression to our gratitude that this year past has seen the agencies of peace sensibly strengthened and that our relations with other peoples are firmly grounded in amity and concord".

President Hoover will occupy the chief place among those who join in the observance of Armistice Day at the Capitol.

Visiting Arlington National Cemetery on the morning of November 11 the president's will be the most illustrious wreath which will be placed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier Later in the day he will address the convention of the World Alliance for International Friendship through the churches, which is to meet here November 10-12.

Services, conducted by Bishop Jas E. Freeman, will be held during the afternoon at the tomb of the former President Woodrow Wilson in the Washington Cathedral. In the evening the American Legion will hold a memorial meeting at the Washington auditorium, with General Pershing as the principal speaker.

NO LESS THAN NOTHING

I always like to think of Missouri as the Representative State; representative of the South, of the Midwest, of the Mississippi Valley. In its border position, it has always presented defiant, clear-breasted men as representative to Congress. So we go to the polls tomorrow and vote for Fulbright, a representative man for a representative State, to which he will not come back and compensate for being a unit of rotten legislation by telling of playing the under-dog to our gracious president.

N. A. Perry, Indianapolis financier, said he told Hoover that three more years depression lay before us. He said that the dissemination of a forecast of an early return to normal should be stopped and actual conditions be protrayed to the country. I wonder if there was any chance of the use of political strategy in having this significant paragraph at the bottom of a column of Hyde and Hoover optimism.

I notice by the papers where the humanitarians are striving to get the U. S. to export helium gas to Europe. It's a shame and a sin that we can't send over some of that filibustering gas that is released in the Halls of Congress. It would be monstrously expensive, though, if it would be sold in about the same proportion it costs us to keep the Senate open for it.

Most people feel only the negative impulse of Religion, or Worship. The positive being the reward they get for pure and virtuous living; the negative, the punishment they receive as their allotment for their evils. It's not the Heaven they receive if they do, it's the Hell they despise if they don't.

By the papers I notice that H. B Warner has deliberately refused to slap the beautiful Esther Ralston. I can't figure out whether it's chivalry, or that H. B. is holding out for an actress that he would like to sock or what.

I'd get a great kick out of it if they would let me pick out one of those 'baby talk" bambinoes.

In one of the News Reels the other night, I found a new use for the Navy. The Commander was talking to his air squadron on board the Airplane Carrier, Lexington. "Now be sure and keep between this boat and the Paramount cameraman". I knew right then that the newsree' couldn't do without the Naval Maneuvers and President Hoover.

Wealthiest Man In Japan Has Income of $1,400,000 a Year, Barn Hachiroeman Mitsui, the yen man from Japan, would last about one night in one of our night clubs or hotels on his year's income.

Harvard to Establish School of Geography. I think that it would be fine if they would send a few of the Naval Conference representatives to this school before they are sent to confer on such a vital subject. Maybe they would have an idea of how much coast line the U. S. and Japan has to defend.

"By gar, the weather shore is fine today, ain't it? But one thing shore is, I wished I'da knowed these pants wuz this cool last summer, I'da wore 'em".

ILLEGAL FISHERMEN LEAD LIST OF LAW VIOLATORS

Illegal fishermen made the biggest score on the arrest sheet as 51 of their number were apprehended for fishing without a license. Other violations were as follows: hunting without a license, 35; pre-season fur hunting, 18; illegal netting and seining, 13; dynamiting, 12; hand fishing 8; selling game fish, 4; selling fur animals, 4; taking game birds out of season, 3; killing non-game birds, 2 One arrest was made for each exceeding the bag limit, selling undersized fish, trapping fish, resisting a game warden, fraudently securing license, and loaning license.

To care for game birds during the winter, the Missouri game commission is establishing permanent quail feeding stations.

MISSOURI LAND VALUES DECLINE

Movements of land values in Missouri which were upward for the century between 1820 and 1920 have been trending downward since, said Conrad H. Hammar of the Missouri College of Agriculture at Farmers' Week Tuesday. The decline was rapid till about 1929 when in many counties the movement was arrested and a small upward movement evident. The decline continued and was even accelerated in 1930.

A good part of the decline since 1920 must be attributed to a declining price level. A continued decline in prices is more probable than any marked rise and any actual general price level declines will be a factor forcing land values still lower.

Despite unfavorable price relationships, however, farm incomes have been rising slowly though apparently not as rapidly as farm standards of living, and land values have continued to fall despite the increased farm incomes. The rise in farm incomes is encouraging, however, and presages an eventual strengthening in land values.

A further factor in checking the decline values is the increasing of population in the United States and the world. The number of people in the United States was greater by 17,000,000 in 1930 than in 1920. The farm population, however, actually declined by more than 4,000,000 during the same period. The land in farms in the United States decreased 31,500,000 acres between 1920 and 1925. The 1930 figures for farm land acreage are not yet avaiable.

If population increases continue we shall ultimately need more land and land values may be expected to rise Our land resources are ample for present needs, however, and land values are not likely to look upward because of any immediate and large increase in the demand for farm lands.

The increasing efficiencey of agricultural production has enabled fewer farmers on fewer acres to supply agricultural products in rapidly increasing volume. Agricultural production between 1917 and 1926 grew faster than population. For this reason also our immediate needs for increased farm acreage will scarcely be large. However, increased efficiency means decreased costs as well as greater production.

Finally, it appears that while there may be some further decline in farm land values these declines will be moderate. There are fair prospects for a rather stable level of land values soon. I see, however, few evidences that would justify one in expecting any widespread and active increase in land values in the near future.

STODDARD IS AGAIN IN FOLD OF DEMOCRATS

Bloomfiled, November 5.—Notwithstanding that the Republican party two years ago scored a heavy victory in Stoddard County, normally Democratic, the Democrats came back Tuesday and piled up a majority of approximately 1200 voes out of a total of 5500 cast, electing the entire ticket. The vote was about 70 per cent of normal.

Frank A. Brannock, Democrat, was elected to the State Legislature over C. E. Clowe of Dexter, by a vote of 3571 to 2282, and W. J. Wilson won the office of presiding judge of the County Court over John J. Ashley by a vote of 3689 to 2168. W. J. Garner was unopposed for judge in the first district and Frank Carney won over I. M. Frye in the second district by 1901 to 1134.

Kip Briney was easily conceded the prosecuting atorney's race against J S. Miller by a vote of 3729 to 2049 Wm. L. Tucker was not opposed for probate judge.

J. C. Henderson was elected circuit clerk over Elzie Snider by a vote of 3602 to 2215, and Walter C. Jackson, leading the county ticket, piled up a vote of 4025 for County Clerk over W. Ransom Scism, who polled only 1775 votes.

The State race went generally with the County ticket vote. James F Fulbright polled 3551 votes to 2326 for Dewey Short for Congressman, and George R. Ellison piled up 3578 votes for Supreme Court Judge to 2261 for David E. Blair. Charles A. Lee led in Stoddard County in the State Superintendent of Schools' race over John H. Gehrs of Cape Grardeau by a vote of 3561 to 2203.

"Exit" is Latin and means "he goes out".

WOULD CONSTRUCT PRESS BUILDING AT STATE FAIR

Sedalia, Mo.—A request for $25,000 with which to erect a building on the Missouri State Fair Grounds for use of Missourians engaged in the newspaper publishing industry will be embodied in the Missouri State Fair Board's budget to the 56th Missouri General Assembly.

This proposed addition to the $1,750,000 State exposition plant would be patterned to house apparatus and equipment used in the manufacture of newspapers and it also would serve as headquarters for Missouri publishers, editors and printers attending the fair annually. Fair officials believe that this would be one of the most educational and entertaining exhibitions ever assembled at any State exposition.

The Fair Board, through Secretary W. D. Smith, also will ask the State legislature for a biennial appropriation of $20,000 to advertise the official State exposition.

Special efforts are being made by the State game officials to protect game birds, including Missouri's famous Bobwhite quail, and the furbearers from the pre-season hunters. The quail season does not open until November 10 and furbearers cannot be trapped before November 15. Trapping regulations, as well as hunting laws, are published in a booklet which is distributed free by the Missouri Game and Fish Department at Jefferson City.

FUNERAL FOR L. B. HOUCK AT WESTERN CITY

Col. L. B. Houck, who died at his home in Eagle Rock, Cal., and for whom funeral servcies were held there Monday, was until eight years ago a resident of Cape Girardeau. Although he died Friday night, advices of his demise were not received until Monday.

Interment, according to the telegram, was in California Monday. Early last week many friends in Cape Girardeau were shocked by a report of Col. Houck's death, which later proved premature. It was later revealed that he had been very sick of pneumonia, although no one here had known that he was sick. At that time it was thought that in case of death the body would be brought here for burial as the Houck family has space in the old Lorimier cemetery where the late Louis Houck was buried and where a foster daughter of Col. and Mrs. Houck rests.

Col. Louis B. Houck spent many years in and out of Cape Girardeau having come here from Bellville, Ill. where he was born, to take employment with his uncle, the late Louis Houck, in the building and operation of railroads. It was while engaged in this work that he met Miss Virginia Hunter at New Madrid, considered at that time to be the most beautiful girl in Southeast Missouri He married her there and she now survives him.

In 1905 he built a home in Cape Girardeau on College avenue, the first one on that street, and it was then the most pretentious house in Cape Girardeau. A year or so previous to that time he and Mrs. Houck had moved to Memphis, Tenn., but they didn't like it there. They resided in Cape Girardeau until 1922 when they moved to California, selling their home here.

Col. and Mrs. Houck own extensive lands in New Madrid County and he came back at least twice a year to look after it. He was here a few months ago and some of his friends remarked that he was not looking at all well. Evidently the attack of pneumonia was fatal because he was otherwise sick.

In 1902 Park Adams established a daily newspaper in Cape Girardeau called the Daily Republican. He soon sold it and it changed hands several times in short order. In these changes Col. Houck bought the paper, having worked in the printing office of his uncle at Belleville. He often remarked that he once owned the paper that eventually grew into The Southeast Missourian.

In 1900 and for a number of years afterward he owned considerable property on Main street. The Buckner-Ragsdale store and the other adjacent building, as well as the site of the present Building & Loan building, were owned by him.

Although he never took an active part in politics, he was honored by Gov. Frederick D. Gardner with an appointment on his personal staff of colonels. This is the only political position he ever filled.

Col. Houck was born in Belleville, Ill., February 28, 1867, a son of Mr and Mrs. Louis Bartholomew Houck and came to Cape Girardeau when about 18 years old to enter the employment of his uncle, the late Louis Houck, in railroad work. He was the assistant freight agent for the old Cape Girardeau & Southwestern railroad and later became general freight agent for all the Houck roads. He served from 1885 to 1898 He amassed considerable property and untily 1908 devoted his time to it. Then he bought the Shelby County & Northwestern Railroad which was the last short line railroad built in Missouri. For several years he devoted much time to it and had two brothers employed on it. Then in 1922 he moved with his family to California and returned each year to look after his interests. His brother, J. C. Houck, still operates the Shelby County railroad, which was doubled in length by the Houck Company.

Col. Houck was here in July and August and when he left he told his associates that he would return in October, but his health declined so rapidly that he was unable to make the trip. He and Mrs. Houck owned considerable apartment house property in Los Angeles and adjacent cities and the income enabled him to retire

Col. Houck leaves, besides his widow, a foster daughter, Miss Frances Houck, three sisters and three brothers. The brothers are: Julius C. Houck, of Shelbina; Hugo Houck of St. Louis; George Houck, Little Rock, Ark. The sisters are: Mrs. Emma Giboney, Cape Girardeau; Mrs. Bertha Geisler, Belleville, Ill.; Mrs. Carrie Eckhardt, St. Louis. Mrs. Louis Houck, an aunt, Mrs. Rebecca Frissell and daughter, Miss Mary, and Major Giboney Houck, are cousins. The Houck addres in California is 5454 Dahlia street, Eagle Rock Station, Los Angeles.—Cape Missourian.

THE MISUSE OF GRAVEL STOCKPILE

Information has reached the Highway Department from several sections of the State, to the effect that gravel from State stockpiles is being used for private purposes. This is a serious practice, as the person so misappropriating State property can be forced to replace all materials taken, and be prosecuted also for common theft.

Gravel stockpiles are placed at regular intervals along gravel roads for the purpose of resurfacing the roads. A certain number of tons are stockpiled for each mile and any shortage will eventually be reflected in the condition of the road bed. People living along graveled roads, and the traveling public in general, should be interested in reporting gravel thefts, and thereby protect the durability of their roads.

SOME SCOTT COUNTY FARM BUREAU NEWS

The Board of Directors of the Oran Co-operative Marketing Association held their quarterly meeting October 28. The entire Board was present: M. C. Dunn, President; E. Hanselmann, Secretary; Tony Gosche, Wm LeGrand, Theo Diebold, Joe Pfefferkorn, J. W. Whittington, E. C. Brann, Manager.

The regular business of the Association was transacted at which time the manager's quarterly report was accepted. Up to the present time 40 cars of livestock have been shipped by the Association. Plans for the annual meeting which will be held in February were discussed. The exact date being left optional to County Agent Renner, who will have charge of getting the speakers for the occasion.

Theo. Diebold of Oran, marketed a 700-pound, 8 months old calf for $80.75 met through the Oran Co-operative Marketing Association. Elmer Brann, manager, stated that the calf weighed 700 pounds at Oran, loosing 20 pounds during shipment. It sold for $12.50 per hundred or $85 gross, netting the owner $80.75. The entire marketing expense was 62 1-2c per 100 pounds.

Heisserer and Everett Allen of Oran are feeding nine head of March and April calves which they expect to market in December for the Christmas tree.

MILL PROVES FIRST AID TO FARMER IN DROUGHT AREA

James Range, Washington County Tennessee, reports that this year he would not continue to farm without his feed mill. Drought-stricken corn, good only for fodder, is being coarsely ground with wheat. The latter makes a heavy, pasty feed when used alone but when mixed with the fodder no feeding difficulties have been experienced. Recently Mr. Range became crowded with other farm work and neglected to provide ground feed for a few days. This resulted in a loss of test of 4 per cent in his cream check and his horses going off feed. Grinding feed again brought the cows back in production, increased his cream test by 5 per cent and put his horses back in good working condition.

THIS WEEK IN MO. HISTORY

Floyd C. Shoemaker

Sixty-nine years ago this week the fortunes of General John C Fremont, as Commander of the Western Department of the Union army, reached the deplorable climax toward which they had long been steadily moving, and he was removed from his post, to be succeeded by General David Hunter. It was on November 2, 1861, in the camp of his army near Springfield, that General Fremont, while in the midst of plans and operations by which he hoped to restore his then rapidly waning military reputation, received the messenger bearing the order of dismissal.

The sting of the blow to Fremont as a recent biographer says, was taken away only by the outburst of pulic disapproval all over the North. Fremont had been unsuccessful, in a large degree, in Missouri; what with the loss of Lyon and the defeat of his army at Wilson's Creek, the fall of Lexington and the loss of Mulligan's command, and his reversal by Lincoln on the terms of his famous proclamation ordering the confiscation of Confederate property and the freeing of Missouri slaves But, there is no doubt that a large section of public opinion, at the time supported him, and deplored his removal. Fremont had done a great deal, in the face of tremendous odds some writers contend, in the hundred days during which he was in charge of the Western Department. The blow, nevertheless, had fallen. Lincoln had decided, and wisely, as even Fremont's defenders admit, that a change was necessary in the West.

Fremont was given command of the newly created Western Department early in July, 1861. He had been in France at the outbreak of the war, and, notified of his appointment as one of the ranking Union generals, he had set to work on the spot, buying in his own authority arms, ammunition, and other military supplies, for the use of the Federal government. Arriving in the United States shortly afterward, he conferred with President Lincoln and his advisers, and toward the last of July came to St. Louis, his headquarters

Blair and Lyon had already saved St. Louis for the Union, but the city was hostile to the Federal cause Chaos and disorganization characterized the Union command in Missouri. To all this, Fremont soon gave a different complexion. Laboring under a mountain of pressing demands he established Federal dominance in St. Louis, quieted its restless unemployed men, planned and started its fortification, received inrushing streams of recruits, and, at the same time, tried to direct operations in the field over a front that stretched from Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to Paducah Ky.

In a dilemma between reinforcing Lyon in the Southwest and saving Bird's Point on the Mississippi, he chose to direct his limited forces in the later direction, and thereby, with the turn of fortune, brought down upon his head the most severe criticism. Lyon was killed and his army badly defeated by Price and McCulloch. The danger to Bird's Point appeared to have been exaggerated Fremont was held responsibile, but it is set forth, in justification of his course, that he had instructed Lyon to retreat if necessary, rather than make a stand against the Confederates. Some say retreat was impossible; some say it was feasible.

Wilson's Creek was followed by Mulligan's surrender to Price at Lexington. Reinforcement sent to Mulligan failed to arrive, and the South added another victory. In the meantime, Fremont had declared martial law in St. Louis and the area held by his forces, and proclaimed free the slaves of Missourians opposing the national government. Lincoln was not ready for the injection of the latter element into the war and after some correspondence ordered Fremont to amend his proclamation.

With such a list of failures, coupled with a split between him and Blair and growing dissatisfaction with his work at Washington, Fremont took the field himself. He proposed to chase Price in the Southwest, defeat him, and move on to Memphis and New Orleans. In this plan misinformation threatened to embarrass him again when, near Springfield, he was relieved. Price was not where he thought him to be. But the command was turned over to Hunter early in November, and the chase given up for the time. Hunter was superseded by Halleck in a short time, and the affairs of the Western Department began to improve, not, however, entirely due to the work of Fremont's successors.

Among relics of the Fort Dearborn massacre, 108 years ago, is the wedding trunk of Rebekah Heald, taken prisoner by the Indians.

"Please write to a girl who wants to marry", said a note in a strawberry box from Grublis. Ark. But T. C. Sardine, 82, of Bixley, Nev., who got that box, decided he wasn't interested as he is nearing his 50th wedding anniversary. In a situation like the foregoing, it's just too bad.

CONTRACTS LET FOR 486 MILES OF NEW ROADS

The State Highway Commission awarded contracts on one hundred and sixty-two road projects, during the months of September and October, totaling 485.9 miles and at a cost of $5,837,713. All of these projects are now under construction and furnish employment for several thousand men, such as the Department's field engineers and material inspectors; also gravel producers, rock crushing companies, and contractors' forces including much local labor.

Usualy at this season of the year, road construction tapers off until completely by winter weather. This year the Commission has pushed road work during the Fall months in order to relieve the unemployment situation and to furnish work to farmers in the drought stricken areas of the State.

FIRST OFFER OF FREE WOOD RECEIVED

A plan for furnishing wood and fuel free of charge to needy families originated by C. E. Brenton, Red Cross Chairman, is beginning to work. The plan, as outlined in The Sikeston Standard, is simply this: Owners of wood lots or bottom land now covered with drift wood are to allow needy persons to clear the land for wood. Volunteers, it was hoped by Mr. Brenton, would haul the fuel to needy families free of charge, thus relieving the Red Cross Chapter of spending its funds for coal or wood, and allowing its funds to be directed in other channels principally those of supplying food clothing and medical attention.

Mr. Brenton notified The Standard Thursday that one person had volunteered to haul wood free to needy families, and that one land owner had donated a plot of ground which is to be cutover.

It is necessary at once for families needing wood to get in touch with W. Oscar Carroll, secretary of the Red Cross Chapter. Neighbors of needy families are urged to bring this plan to the attention to destitute families who otherwise would not be informed of the plan through the newspapers. Persons having time, a wagon and team or truck are also requested to get in touch with Mr. Carroll at their earliest convenience so that a fuel supply can be laid in before bad weather comes.

BULLDOGS MEET DONIPHAN FRIDAY

The Sikeston Bulldogs will give battle Friday afternoon to the visiting Doniphan eleven following a rest of two weeks. The reserves last Friday downed the Morehouse regulars 12 to 0, but the regulars have had the benefit of an almost complete rest the past week.

Doniphan will go into the battle favored to win, while the locals will be without the services of John McMullin, linesman, the rest of this season McMullin suffered a broken collar bone in scrimmage last Tuesday evening and will be benched for the rest of the year.

URGE SAMARITAN ARMY TO GIVE RELIEF HERE

C. E. Brenton, chairman of the Scott County Red Cross Chapter, is of the opinion that a satisfactory solution has been found to the problem of dealing with the so-called "Samaritan" Army workers who have been operating here for several months.

Following several clashes with police and city officials, a woman solicitor for the "Army" was asked by Mr. Brenton for an explanation of expenditures of money collected in the city. The woman called her husband and co-worker into conference with Mr. Brenton, and the trio reached a tentative agreement for the organization to take care of transient beggars and relief hunters. The Samaritan Army chieftain and Mr. Brenton will have another talk next Monday at which time it is hoped that the out-of-town worker will agree to establish quarters to which transients can be directed for relief.

Mr. Brenton points out that much money has been donated in years past to this out-of-town relief agency, but very little has been expended to give relief to local sufferers. One or two cases have come to the attention to this newspaper, but the relief is out of proportion to the amount collected.

Some weeks ago the male worker for the "Army" was more or less roughly handled by city officials after he bluntly refused to show credentials. He disappeared for some days, but is operating in the city again.

Fall or spring plowing is recommended by entomologists of the U S. Department of Agriculture as an efficient way of controlling grasshoppers. It is usually much easier to combat grasshoppers in the egg or nymph stage than in the adult stage Egg-infested fence rows and stubble land and the ground around old straw stacks should be plowed. Good summer fallow of grasshopper-infested land in stubble, or of grasshopper-infested land grown up to Russian thistles, also greatly reduces the grasshopper hazard, say the entomologists.
